OSCAR E. BUDER REPUBLICAN ON ELECTION BOARD

Lawyer, One of Donors of Memorial Square Is Third Named on St. Louis Body.

FOURTH A PROGRESSIVE

Gov. Major Undecided as to Man, but Is Certain to Give T. R. Party Recognition.

By J. J. McAULIFFE,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

POST-DISPATCH BUREAU, JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—Gov. Major the appointment of Oscar E. Buder, a Republican, as a member of the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners.

He will appoint a Progressive as the fourth member of the board, but says he is yet undecided as this choice.

The St. Louis board, under this arrangement, is placed on a tripartisan basis, two Democrats previously having been chosen to represent the majority party on the board. Gov. Major's decision to split the election plums between the Republicans and Col. Roosevelt's progressive organization followed an opinion from Attorney-General Barker holding the law governing the appointment of Election Commissioners unconstitutional on the grouds that it attempts to restrict the right of the Executive to appoint to office and that it discriminates against all persons except those who happen to be of the two leading parties politically.

Law, if Valid, Blocks Progressives.

The Governor concedes that the Republican party is the second party in the State and that under the law as it stands, the Progressive party is not entitled to representation on the Board of Election Commissioners.

The Republican organization is expected to appeal to the Supreme Court asking a writ of mandamus directing the Governor to show cause why he failed to follow the statute and pick two Republicans for Election Commissioners.

With the St. Louis precedent established, Gov. Major is expected to appoint Progressives on the Election Boards of Kansas City and St. Joseph and on practically all of the boards of State elemosynary and educational institutions.

Today's action of the Governor, it is believed by some, will cause chaos in St. Louis Republican ranks and practically put that party out of the running in the St. Louis mayoralty contest. The Progressives on the other hand, declare the Governor's action will bring many old line Republicans into their camp.

Explains His Position.

The Governor gave out a statement in part as follows:

"Under the law now creating the Board of Election Commissioners for St. Louis the board must be non-partisan, composed of four members to be selected by the Governor. As the board must be nonpartisan then no political party must have a majority so not more than two members can be taken from any one party. I have selected two members from the Democratic party. The remaining two can be selected from any one party, or may be selected from two parties. I am left absolutely free and without any restrictions whatever in making the selections.

"The Progressive party will have eight or nine times as many votes in the Electoral College as the Republican party, and is the leading party, nationally speaking, opposed to the party to which the Governor of Missouri belongs. Therefore, a sense of equity, fairness and justice impels me to conclude that it is but right and proper that I should take one Election Commissioner from the Republican party, and one from the Progressive party, and I shall do so. In this way, the board is composed of two Democrats, one Republican and one Progressive. This is a nonpartisan board, established under the law, and in which no political party has a mapority."

Arthur N. Sager, former Circuit Attorney for St. Louis, is prominently mentioned as Governor Major's choice for Progressive representative on the Election Board.

Oscar E. Buder is an attorney residing at 2623 Park avenue and is associated with his brother, Gustavus A. Buder, in the practice of law under the firm name of Buder & Buder, with offices in the New National Bank of Commerce Building. Gustavus Buder is vice-president and general counsel of the St. Louis Times.

Oscar and Gustavus Buder and their brothers, William F. and Leo R. Buder, lumbermen, donated to the city, last November, a block of South Side property to be used for park and playground purposes, as a memorial to their mother, the late Mrs. Susan R. Buder. The block is bounded by California avenue, Ewing avenue, Hickory street and Rutger street. It was bought by the Buder brothers for $25,000.

The ground is to be known as "The Susan R. Buder Memorial Square." The terms of the deed provide that the square must be suitably improved and permanently maintained by the city for park and playground purposes. The Buder Square Memorial Association was formed a few days ago to see that the terms are carried out.

A. B. COLE MAKES UP WITH SON, SIGNS APPEAL BOND

Father and Young Man Dine Together—Parent to Aid John Following Conviction on Threat to Shoot Charge.

John Jackson Cole and his father, Amedee B. Cole, wealthy St. Louis capitalist, were reconciled at Clayton, Monday afternoon, and, after dining together, the father signed an appeal bond to prevent the son from going to jail.

The bond was signed after Judge Wurdeman had overruled Cole's application for a new trial on the charge of threatening to shoot Oliver Heimbucher of South Kirkwood. Cole was convicted on this charge last Friday and sentenced to serve a year in jail and pay a $500 fine.

Testimony at the trial showed that Cole and his father were not on good terms and that it was the father who informed Heimbuecher that John Jackson Cole had returned to Missouri after promising to remain out of the State. On this information, Heimbuecher caused the younger Cole's arrest and prosecution.

New Trial Refused.

After his conviction, John Jackson Cole said that his father had turned against him.

Amedee B. Cole, John Jackson Cole and Arthur Sager, counsel for Amedee B. Cole, went to Clayton together, Monday afternoon. They dined at Autenrieth's restaurant. Then with John Jackson Cole's attorney, B. L. Matthews, they went to Judge Wurdeman's court, where Matthews made a motion for a new trial. Judge Wurdemann overruled the motion.

A $2000 appeal bond was signed by Amedee Cole and Charles Autenrieth and accepted by the Judge.

Attorney Sager, for Amedee Cole, dictated this statement:

"John Jackson Cole has placed himself in the hands of his father, Amedee B. Cole. Amedee B. Cole will see what he can do for him and start him out again. Grounds for the reconciliation were laid last Saturday. This is the only statement which will be made at this time."

In the course of Jackson's trial last week, Attorney Matthews, in objecting to certain lines of testimony, said:

"If the prosecution wants to throw down the barriers, I will bring evidence here to show Amedee B. Cole's real connection with this case."

Will Travel for Health.

Attorney Sager was asked whether the reconciliation between the father and son also meant that John Jackson Cole and his wife, now in Joplin, Mo., have become reconciled.

"It does not," he replied. "The wife knows nothing of this reconciliation."

John Jackson Cole told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he would depart from St. Louis Monday night for a journey which he believed would improve his health.

SUFFRAGETTES BY SORTIES AND RIOTS TO RENEW WARFARE

Withdrawal of Suffrage Bill by Asquith Maddens Militant Leaders of Cause.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—A declaration of guerilla warfare by the suffragettes, including sorties and riots, to begin at once, was made by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant leader, at a meeting this evening.

Mrs. Pankhurst called for the names and addresses of those who were "prepared to take part in the gallant contest."

The suffragette leader declared that there were many women who were prepared to endanger their lives in the cause.

Miss Kenny, who has been very prominent in the maneuvers of the militants, added that the women would "make the lives of public men impossible" and in reply to an interrupter said:

"If you are a shopkeeper you had better look out. It is not just your windows which are going to be attacked. It is something else. We are going to get this question settled once for all."

Many shops immediately began to board up their windows.

The British Cabinet today decided to drop the franchise bill. This decision was in deference to the Speaker's ruling that the form and substance of the measure would be so materially altered by the amendment granting the vote to women that it ought to be presented in the shape of a new bill.

This is a backset to the cause of woman suffrage, as the measure had just got into Parliament.

The precincts of the House of Commons presented many of the features of a well-defined encampment when the House met this afternoon to bring to a conclusion the current chapter of the work for the enfranchisement of women

Mounted and foot police were to be seen everywhere in great strength. Two thousand patrolmen and 100 mounted men were actually on duty, while large reserves were hidden in convenient court yards in the vicinity of Parliament, ready to pounce on any suffragettes who should attempt to break the peace. Besides this, the leave of all the other policemen belonging to the metropolitar force had been stopped.

The great display of police effectually dampened any projected outbreaks in the open space fronting the houses of Parliament. The crowds of women, many of them carrying sandwich boards advertising the views of rival organizations for and against woman suffrage, were swept back from Parliament Square to the adjoining streets and barriers of sturdy officers effectively closed all the approaches to the House.

BILL TO APPLY SCIENCE TO CRIMINAL DEFECTIVES

MONTPELIER, Va., Jan. 27.—A legislative measure providing for scientific treatment of defective criminals will be laid before Gov. Fletcher tomorrow. The provisions of the bill plan to prevent the increase of this class by putting an end to reproduction.

Strong pressure both in favor of and against the bill will be exerted. No recent act of the Legislature has aroused more discussion.

Those who will appear before the Governor include representatives of medical societies, scientists and some who oppose the law on religious grounds. The constitutionality of the legislation is also involved. The bill passed the houses by narrow margins. In the House 66 members refrained from vot-

CHAUFFEUR'S $4000 BOND IN HOLDUP CASE FORFEITED

Ray Stevenson Fails to Appear on Charge of Aiding to Rob Thomas O'Meara, Saloon Man.

Ray Stevenson, a chauffeur, failed to appear Monday in Judge Kinsey's division of the Circuit Court for arraignment on a charge of robbery, and his bond of $4000 was forfeited. His bond was signed by John Morische, a saloon keeper at Twenty-first street and Cass avenue.

James Lynch, jointly charged with robbery with Stevenson, appeared and entered a plea of not guilty. He was represented by Congressman-elect William L. Igoe and his case was set for trial March 17.

Stevenson and Lynch are charged with being two of the four men who attacked Thomas J. O'Meara, Sept. 10, robbed him of a grip containing $3000, and escaped in an automobile. Police Captain Hess, a passenger on a Jefferson avenue street car, saw the automobile passing at a high speed and took the number of the machine. The number was that of Stevenson's car and he was arrested.

SENATORS TO COME HERE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Senators Root, Bacon, Gallinger, Martin, Cummins, Reed, Nelson and Stone were today appointed a committee to attend the unveiling and dedication of the Thomas Jefferson statue at St. Louis April 20, the 110th anniversary of the signing of the Louisiana Purchase treaty.

NEGROES CUT AND ROB CLOTHIER; ONE SHOT AND CAUGHT

Market Street Merchant's Cries Summon Policeman, Who Takes Up the Chase.

ROCK KNOCKS OFF CAP

Companion of Man Who Tried to Hide Under Porch, Also Believed to Have Been Hit.

Two negroes entered a clothing store at 1523 Market street at 8 a. m. Monday and after cutting the proprietor, grabbed several pairs of trousers and ran out of the store. Patrolman George Hodgens, who was a block west on Market street, saw the men running and took up the chase as they turned into Sixteenth street.

When Hodgens ordered the negroes to stop one of them picked up a rock and hurled it at the policeman, knocking off his cap. Hodgens then fired at the men and one of the negroes fell.

As a crowd ran up in pursuit of the men the injured negro got up, leaped over a fence and hid under a porch at 1622 Chestnut street.

Other Negro Falls Twice.

Hodgens shot at the other negro, who was carrying the stolen clothing, and he fell but got up and escaped. The patrolman then arrested the negro under the porch and he was sent to the city hospital. Spectators told Hodgens that the other negro had fallen twice after he was shot and it is believed that he was injured.

Philip Derlachter, proprietor of the store, received a cut in the right cheek from a knife wielded by one of the negroes in the store. His injury was dressed at the city dispensary and he returned to the store.

The negro at the hospital gave his name as James Miller. He said he came to St. Louis two days ago from Memphis. He told the police he went to the store with the other negro but that he did not know the other man intended to rob the store.

Derlachter told the police that the negroes were standing in front of his store when he opened the place. They came inside, he said, and one asked to see an overcoat. When he showed a coat to one negro he saw the other one put several pairs of trousers under his coat.

Grabs Merchant by Throat.

When Derlachter started toward him the other caught him by the throat and cut him with a knife and the two ran out followed by Derlachter.

Derlachter's cries attracted a crowd which started in pursuit of the negroes. It was then that the patrolman took up the chase.

Barbara Arnold in Short Skirts, Her Hair in Pigtails, on Trial for Arson

Hooded Defendant Nervous and Worried Before Crowd

Nursegirl Charged With Trying to Burn the Windermere Hotel—Her Repudiated Confession to Setting Fatal Berlin Blaze Factor in Trial.

Barbara Gladys Arnold, wearing a childish hood and a short blue dress, and with hair braided in long pigtails, went to trial in the Juvenile Court Monday on the charge of arson in the first degree.

Moving picture operators waited outside the Municipal Courts Building, during the opening session of the trial, to photograph the nursegirl on her departure for lunch.

She is accused of having attempted, at 2 a. m. Nov. 5 last, to set fire to the Windermere Hotel, where she and her employers, the Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Williamson, moved after the burning of the Berlin Hotel, Nov. 1. No mention is made in the indictment of the Berlin Hotel fire, in which three persons were burned to death, but the girl's signed confession that she set the fire, and attempted to repeat her act at the Windermere, will be an important element in the evidence. She has repudiated the confession, which was made, in much detail, to Chief of Detectives Allender.

Throng in the Courtroom.

Mrs. M. E. Begg, proprietor of both the hotels, and her assistant, Jane Foulkes, with several of the guests who were in the Berlin fire, sat in the courtroom crowd. They laughed and chatted. Dr. and Mrs. Williamson were also present and a curious throng, too large for the small courtroom, gazed at the witresses and at the 16-year-old girl on trial, whose youth was accentuated by her manner of dressing.

BARBARA GLADYS ARNOLD.

Barbara Arnold seemed more nervous than at the time of her previous appearances in court. She fidgeted in her chair, talked with her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Morris of Valley Park, and looked pale and worried.

Judge Kinsey, presiding in the Juvenile Court, did not see fit to move the hearing at once to his regular courtroom, though it was thought that the lawyers later would unite in asking for the larger room. A. C. Maroney, Assistant Circuit Attorney, and Everett Paul Griffin, a former assistant, who worked up the prosecution and has been especially retained in the case, appeared for the State, and Richard S. Ralph for the defense. Hiram Moore, who was the girl's chief counsel, is now an assistant Circuit Attorney.

Ralph filed a motion to quash the case on grounds of lack of jurisdiction, but it was overruled, and the selection of jurors from a list of 54 began.

TEMPERATURE NOT TO SHOW MUCH CHANGE

AN OUNCE OF SMOKE HELMET IS WORTH A POUND OF PULMOTOR.
JAN 27 13

"What's that noise out in the front office?" asked the bookkeeper.

"It's Willie, the errand boy," replied the stenographer.

"Is he throwing a fit?"

"No, he's just keeping up with the style set by Taft and Kreismann and other great men."

"And what's he doing?"

"Well, the boss just fired him and he's singing a swan song."

"Sounds more like Capt. McCulloch telling what he thinks of the Seat For Each Passenger League."

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature; lowest tonight will be about 26 degrees.

CHARLES H. JONES FORMER ST. LOUIS EDITOR, IS DEAD

Directed the Missouri Republican and Later the Post-Dispatch.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—A cablegram from Paris today announced the death of Charles H. Jones, former editor of the Missouri Republican, now the St. Louis Republic, and later editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

He died in a sanitarium at Oshidaletti, Italy.

Mr Jones retired from journalism several years ago and had made his home in France.

"Who's Who in America," an authority on present day Americans, gives the following account of Mr. Jones' life:

"Charles Henry Jones was born at Talbottom, Ga., March 7, 1848; his parents were George Washington and Susan Elinor; he entered the Confederate army at 15, serving under Gen. Joe Johnston in campaign ending in the fall of Atlanta; he was transferred to the Naval Department and was in the Georgia Reserves when the war closed; he married Eliza Cowperthwaite of Philadelphia in 1871. She died in 1888; he was later married to Mrs. L. E. Parsons of Washington.

"In 1865 he edited the Eclectic Magazine and Appleton's Journal and contributed to leading periodicals.

"Established the Florida Daily Times in Jacksonville in 1881; removed to St. Louis as editor of Missouri Republican, later Republic, in 1888, managing it until 1893; editor New York World, 1893-5; leased and edited St. Louis Post-Dispatch, 1895-7; member of the World's Columbian Commission and originated the idea of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904 in St. Louis.

"Prominent in Democratic party; wrote the Chicago platform of 1896 and Kansas City platform of 1900.

"President of the National Editorial Association, 1885, one of the leaders in organizing the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Home, Paris, France."

Some of the points mentioned in "Who's Who" such as originating the St. Louis World's Fair idea and writing the Democratic platforms have been disputed.

RATE CASES NOT DECIDED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Neither the State rate cases nor the inter-mountain rate cases were decided today by the Supreme Court.

STONE ANNOUNCES HE IS CANDIDATE FOR A THIRD TERM

Senator, in St. Louis, Discusses Missourians' Chances for Cabinet Selections.

United States Senator William J. Stone told a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Planters Hotel Monday that he would be a candidate for re-election to the Senate in 1914. Senator Stone is serving his second term.

Discussing the prospect of a Missourian being selected for a Cabinet position by President-elect Wilson, Senator Stone said:

"I understand that former Mayor Wells would like to be Secretary of the Treasury; that former Gov. Folk would be greatly pleased to be made Attorney-General; that former Gov. Francis also has his hat in the ring for a Cabinet office, and that Congressman James T. Lloyd wants also to be Postmaster-General.

"Now, I think it would be a good plan for Gov. Wilson to make up his Cabinet from this list of Missourians. I think he would get a good Cabinet, don't you?

"I presume that Congressman-elect Igoe will have much to say relative to the purely local appointments. I should think it would be proper for him to be consulted about such offices as Postmaster and other St. Louis places.

"Are you here in the interest of your re-election to the Senate in 1914?" Senator Stone was asked.

"No; that is not the purpose of my visit, but if you want to know, if I am alive and keep my health, I expect to be a candidate for re-election. And I think it rather likely that I shall have opposition. Of course, I am not worried about that. I have always had opposition.

"I do not mean to infer that I am not caring whether there is opposition. I might be beaten. Every prize fighter, you know, fights once too often, and I might get knocked out the next time I go into the ring for re-election. But it would be perfectly delightful, wouldn't it, if I could be re-elected without having to fight for it?"

Sorry There'll Be No Ball.

Senator Stone said he would go to Jefferson City Monday night and spend Tuesday there, and then go to Kansas City and St. Joseph, and get back to Washington by next Monday.

"I am heart-broken, of course, because there is going to be no inaugural ball," he continued. "It has been 20 long years since I danced at a Democratic inaugural ball, and I feel like I could do some lively stunts, if I had the opportunity."

TAFT CUTS SENTENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—President Taft today commuted to 18 months the sentence of six years' imprisonment on William Adler, a New Orleans banker, convicted of misapplication of funds of a national bank.

Adler has served about one year.

BALLOTS CAST IN DYER-GILL WARD MISSING FROM BOX

Three Votes Cannot Be Found on Recount by Election Commissioners—Republican Official Tells of Irregularities Committed in Fourth Precinct Polling Place.

SAYS JUDGE WAS IN BOOTH WITH VOTERS

Illiterate Men Aided in Manner Contrary to Law, and Not Required to Take Oath on Their Inability to Write.

Additional irregularities in the voting at the Fourth precinct of the Fifth Ward in the recent election were brought to light in the Dyer-Gill congressional contest Monday.

J. A. Simpson, 523 Market street; Alex C. Howard, manager of the Laclede Hotel, and William Van Sherman, 107 North Sixth street, all deposed that they voted in this precinct. All three ballots were missing from the box at the recount.

Howard said that he cast the first ballot in this precinct and that he voted the Progressive ticket. Sherman said he voted a straight Democratic ticket. Simpson, a judge of election in this precinct, said he voted the straight Republican ticket, except that he voted for Michael Kinney, Democrat, for the State Legislature.

Simpson deposed also that one judge, Daniel Sweeney, handed out the ballots to voters in that precinct and that Sweeney prepared most of the ballots for voters who said they could neither read nor write.

Judge Went Into Booths.

He declared that one judge, Daniel Sweeney, handed out the ballot to voters in that precinct, and that Sweeney prepared most of the ballots for voters who said they could neither read nor write.

Several times, he declared, Sweeney accompanied voters to the booths, although the law expressly forbids this, requiring the preparation of ballots for illiterate or disabled voters to be done in the presence of the other judges.

Simpson also declared that voters who said they were illiterate or disabled were not asked to make oath to that effect, although the law requires such oath.

It was in this precinct that T. E. Vaughn, a Progressive party worker, testified that he saw an election judge scratch eight ballots, without any request from the voters, to whom he soon afterward handed them, and that he saw the same judge write in the names of Dyer and Kiel in place of those of Gill and Dickmann.

Simpson was asked whether he remembered seeing Vaughn in the polling place. He said he remembered Vaughn because the latter "seemed partly intoxicated and talked about a prize fight." He said he did not remember who ordered Vaughn out.

Vaughn is a business man, living at the Planters Hotel.

He could not recall that many persons appeared who were unable to prepare their own ballots. Sometimes he said Sweeney went to the booths with the illiterates, he said, and sometimes he didn't.

Sweeney was out for a few minutes around 9 a. m., Simpson swore, and in his absence a judge named Pierce or one named O'Reilly acted for him. He could not remember which.

Simpson was given a tally sheet showing the count for Congressman as reported by the judges in this precinct. He read the vote as: Dyer 132, Gill 49, Cotton 34, Crouch 3. The recount in this precinct fixes the vote as: Dyer 110, Gill 62, Cotton 34, Crouch 3.

Gave Ballot to Judge.

As to his own ballot, which was missing, Simpson said he handed it to Sweeney. He said he never noticed whether it went into the box but supposed it did. He declared there was no disorder in the polling place all day.

On cross-examination Simpson declared there was no agreement as to which judges should do the counting and which reading off the names. There was no secrecy as to the names of illiterate voters, he added. He admitted he might have been mistaken as to Vaughn appearing intoxicated.

He said he could not remember any conversation in which Vaughn said he came from Chicago and mentioned the names of "Hinky Dink" and "Bathhouse John."

Franklin Miller, attorney for Dyer, protested against the deposition of Sherman. Sherman registered at 110 North Broadway, but was living at 107 North Sixth street when he voted. Miller's protest was on the ground that the attorneys for Gill hadn't given him the proper address of Sherman before he appeared to give his deposition.

The records of appointments of Fifth Ward election officials show that between the selection of the judges and clerks for the August registration and election day, changes were made in the officials of 14 of the 17 precincts. In some precincts three changes were made.

The precincts where no change was made were the eighth, thirteenth and fifteenth. Changes can be made because of removal from the precinct, sickness,

300 INDICTMENTS FOR GAMBLING ON EAST SIDE VOTED

Return of Grand Jury Following State's Attorney's Raids Expected Tomorrow.

AGAINST THIRTY-ONE MEN

Several St. Louisans, It Is Understood, Will Be Among the Number Accused.

The special St. Clair County grand jury, impaneled to investigate gambling conditions in East St. Louis, is expected to report more than 300 indictments in Judge Vandeventer's court not later than Tuesday.

These indictments will be returned against the 31 men who were arrested or surrendered when State's Attorney Charles Webb made personally conducted raids on gambling houses in East St. Louis and Brooklyn a week ago.

Against some of the individual defendants it is expected there will be as many as 10 indictments on charges of gambling, permitting gambling, setting up and maintaining gaming houses and aiding and abetting in gambling.

Hearings Deferred.

The 31 defendants were to have preliminary hearings Monday under warrants issued by Justice Boyne, but by agreement of counsel it was decided that the hearings be deferred for 10 days pending action of the grand jury. The defendants are out on bonds aggregating about $25,000.

While the special grand jury has completed the work for which it was appointed, State's Attorney Webb says that he has by no means completed his investigation of gambling conditions and that if necessary there will be more raids. In that case another special grand jury would be appointed.

It is understood that there will be indictments of Henry (Kid) Becker on charges of operating handbooks and craps games and that Tom Kearney and the Heib brothers, Conrad and Mike, will be charged with operating handbooks. Johnnie Johnson and Tom Van Dyke will be accused of operating a poker game.

Craps Games Charged.

Ferd Warner, formerly a member of the St. Louis House of Delegates, and his brother, Jack Warner, are to be charged with running craps games in Brooklyn, a negro settlement north of East St. Louis.

It is understood also that Robert Dorsey, the negro police chief of Brooklyn, will be charged with aiding and abetting in the Warner games and that a more serious charge will be preferred against him because he drew a revolver on one of the raiders.

The charge against Jack Keefe, an East St. Louis saloonkeeper, will be that he permitted Kearney to operate a handbook in his saloon. Edward Bergen, another saloonkeeper, will be charged with permitting the operation of Kid Becker's handbook.

Handbook in Saloon.

G. Wash Thompson, former Sheriff of St. Clair County and former police chief of East St. Louis, will be accused of permitting Johnnie Johnson and Tom Van Dyke to run a poker game and permitting the Heib brothers to operate a handbook in his saloon.

Those against whom indictments for aiding and abetting gambling games are understood to have been voted are Joe Dailey, Julius Schneider, J. M. McGuire, Billy Weber, Will Cogswell, Phil Massing, Frank Smith, Theodore Wuertz, Phil Norman, Edwain Court, Steve Morton, Doc Schalk, Andy Schaeffer, Eddie Welsh, Howard Little, Frank Burns, Ben Foster and Walter Sauter.

A gambling indictment, it is said, will be returned against Frederick Vanderberg, a negro politician and saloon keeper of Brooklyn.

WOULD TAKE TANG OUT OF "MOVIES"

Senator Craig's Bill Would Prohibit Many Much Used Themes.

POST-DISPATCH BUREAU, JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 27.—Senator Craig of Nodaway has embodied some ideas of his about moving pictures in a bill to be introduced which will take much of the tang out of those exhibitions.

He would prohibit under heavy penalties the exhibition of prize fights, wild west scenes, execution of criminals, robberies, divorce scandals, pictures of persons wearing too few clothes, and all amorous love making scenes. He says this sort of pictures are extremely hurtful to the youth of the State and should be prohibited. His bill provides for a fine of $50 to $100 and revocation of license.

MANY ASK WILSON TO MAKE FOLK HIS ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Gov. Major Said to Be Among Those Who Have Written Indorsements.

WELLS' FRIENDS BUSY, TOO

Former Mayor Urged for Secretary of Treasury in Active Campaign.

The effort of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk's friends to bring about his appointment as Attorney-General in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet has almost reached the proportions of a campaign.

Letters to the President-elect, urging Folk's appointment, have been sent by persons prominent in Democratic politics throughout the State. These letter writers, it is said on good authority, include Gov. Major.

To these letters, so far as is known, answers have been sent by Wilson or his secretary, stating that he esteems Folk highly, and will give careful consideration to the request for his appointment.

Folk and Wells Rivals.

Folk's friends have found the situation somewhat complicated by simultaneous Cabinet booms for other Missourians. The most formidable of these is that of Rolla Wells for Secretary of the Treasury. No one supposes that more than one Missourian will get into the Cabinet, and thus Folk and Wells have become in a sense rivals.

The movement behind Folk is more active than that behind Wells, yet it is known that a number of letters have been written to Wilson on Wells' behalf, and that his replies have been similar to those sent to Folk's friends. Some men who were asked by Folk's friends to write to Wilson in behalf of Folk have replied that they already have written favoring Wells, and hardly could ask for another Missouri appointment to the Cabinet, without withdrawing their first indorsement.

Other Missourians who have scattering support in their supposed aspirations for cabinet places are former Govs. Stephens, Francis and Dockery.

No Obstacle From Stone.

Senator Stone, who is now in St. Louis, is said to have been asked by some of Folk's friends to join in the Folk indorsement. He is said to have told Folk's backers that he did not care to take an active part in the movement, but would interpose no obstacle. Politicians have remarked that Stone could hardly afford to commit himself to the indorsement of a man who may, two years hence, be contesting his Senate seat with him.

The attitude of Edward F. Goltra, National Committeeman and close friend of Wilson, is said to have given the Folk men some concern. He is said to be favorable to Wells, but seems desirious not to offend the Folk men. The latter believe his positive indorsement would be of great advantage to Folk.

Many believe the voice most heeded by the new President in cabinet matters will be that of William J. Bryan, whose appointment as Secretary of State, is widely expected. Bryan is very friendly to Folk, but politicians have suggested that, by helping Folk to get a place with such political possibilities as that of Attorney-General, he might be raising up a rival to himself for the succession in 1916, when, Bryan has declared, it will be Wilson's time to retire.

BOY SAYS HE IS ONE OF GANG ON ROBBERY RAID

Joseph Mack, 14 years old, under arrest at Alton on the charge of robbing the Venardo candy store, told Chief of Police Lynn Monday that he is a member of a gang of eight armed boys who started out from Chicago to raid Illinois towns. William Harthack, 16 years old, who was arrested with Mack, denies they are members of a gang and says he and Mack were merely traveling to see the country when they ran out of money and resorted to burglary.

Policeman Hermans was passing the Venardo store on Piasa street near Third street at 1 a. m. when he saw a boy at one of the cash registers. He called Policeman Lyons and they entered the store, one through the front door and the other through the rear door.

Mack was captured with 300 pennies that he had taken from a register Hardhack was at another register, which was empty. They were taken to the police station.

GIRL WHO FOUGHT FIRE WITH A GARDEN HOSE

MISS CATHERINE GANSERT...

GIRL WITH GARDEN HOSE FIGHTS FIRE AS CROWD WATCHES

She Turns in Alarm at 5:3o A. M., Then Tries to Put Out Blaze in Store Next Door.

A slender stream of water from a garden hose in the hands of Miss Catherine Gansert, 18 years old, an operator at the Kinloch Telephone Co.'s Delmar exchange, while it did not put out a fire in a grocery, Monday morning, dispelled the fears of neighbors to such an extent that they cheered her efforts.

Miss Gansert lives with her parents, Jacob and Mary Gansert, at 3939 St. Ferdinand avenue. She reports for duty at the Delmar exchange at 6:30 every morning. Shortly after 5:30 a. m. Monday she noticed flames in the roof of the two-story frame building at 3935 St. Ferdinand avenue. The flames were leaping toward the Gansert residence, and Miss Gansert ran to a fire alarm box, two blocks away.

When she returned she found groups of neighbors standing about the burning grocery. Sam J. Schultz and his wife, an elderly couple, who own the store and live in adjoining rooms, were with the crowd on the sidewalk. Miss Gansert ran to the basement of her home and coupled the garden hose to a faucet and in a few minutes had a stream directed at the fire.

The fire, which was caused by a defective flue, was confined to the floor above the grocery, used as a storeroom.

FOR A GOOD DIGESTION

A Local Druggist's Suggestion.

It has been said the body is like a machine and digestion and elimination of food are the two great factors to health.

If the digestive organs are weak, the stomach overtaxed, waste matter accumulates in the system—the liver gets sluggish and the blood becomes thin and devitalized.

We want to ask every person in this vicinity who is troubled with indigestion or a weak wornout stomach to try our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol.

We know it will strengthen and tone up the weakened, tired and overtaxed nerves of the digestive organs, create a hearty appetite, and replace weakness with strength.

We just heard of a case of a man in Oneonta, N. Y., who suffered from a bad stomach trouble for fifteen years and had become so weak he could hardly walk—who was cured by Vinol.

Try a bottle of Vinol and if it fails to help you we will give back your money. Chester Kent & Co., Chemists. For sale by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

INQUIRY IN CASE OF WOMAN AND BABY FOUND DEAD

Coroner Orders Autopsy to Discover Whether Gas Killed Mrs. Hathaway.

An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death of Mrs. Laura Hathaway and her 1-year-old daughter, Georgia, who were found dead in the kitchen of their home at 1504A Montgomery street, was ordered by Coroner Padberg Monday, after an inquest had been started.

Mrs. Hathaway's husband, a chemist for the National Enameling and Stamping Co., testified as to finding his wife and baby lying dead on the kitchen floor when he returned from work Saturday night. The family had lived in the flat only since the preceding Monday.

In ordering the autopsy the Coroner said there were several points in the case that needed clearing up.

One of these points was the testimony of neighbors that a gas jet was burning in the room when they entered it in response to Hathaway's calls for help.

Hathaway testified that he could not remember whether he lit the gas after his return home. He said the room was filled with gas when he entered and that two taps connecting with the oven of the gas stove were turned on full and the burners were not lit. Under ordinary conditions the Coroner believes the lighting of a match or jet in a room into which sufficient gas to suffocate two persons had escaped would have caused an explosion.

That this did not happen may be explained, be conceived, by Hathaway's statement that he opened all the doors and windows when he found the bodies. The gas may have been lit by some neighbor who entered later.

Another point which the Coroner desires to clear is the position of the bodies when found. Drs. Hensky and Kempff testified that Mrs. Hathaway's head was not in front of the oven but to one side of the stove and so near to it that she could have reached the taps and turned off the gas had she discovered that it was escaping.

Henry Weitzel of 1506 Montgomery street, Mrs. Ida Easley of 1510 Montgomery street and Miss Jeanette Walker of 1813 Montgomery street, testified that a gas jet was burning in the kitchen when they reached the house. Mrs. Easley said she found one of the oven taps still turned on.

These three witnesses testified that in the bedroom, adjoining the kitchen, they saw soot scattered over the bed spread Hathaway testified that he could not explain the presence of the soot. He thought at the time that an oil heater in the bedroom had exploded, but the heater was found intact. All of the flues in the house were covered and there were no stoves connected with them.

Dayton Street District police are still investigating the deaths.

END LIVER TROUBLE WITHOUT CALOMEL

Untrustworthy Drug, Thought to Loosen the Teeth, Now Made Absolutely Unnecessary.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are the mildest but surest laxative known, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. Dr. Edwards has been calomel's uncompromising foe. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-oil-colored tablets, a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. These pleasant, harmless little tablets do all the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel at all, but to let Olive Tablets take their place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits.

At 10c and 25c a box. "Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

TURKISH WOUNDED BORNE FROM THE TCHATALJA LINES

Arrival at Constantinople Confirms Story That Fighting Has Been Renewed.

YOUNG TURKS LACK CASH

Inquiry Into Nazim Pasha's Death Shows He Was Stabbed, as Well as Shot.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1913, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—"Some soldiers have been brought back from the lines wounded," the Constantinople correspondent of the Times telegraphs. "From what cause is unknown."

This appears to corroborate the New York World's exclusive dispatch yesterday from Vienna reporting that an urgent message from Constantinople by way of Trieste stated that Turkey reopened hostilities along the Tchatalja line at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Daily Mail says that Col. Jostoff, chief of staff of the Third Bulgarian Army before Tchatalja, who is now acting as military adviser to the peace mission, will leave London for the front tomorrow and that all the Powers, including Russia and Austria, have given assurance that the hostilities shall be limited to the Balkan States and Turkey.

Young Turks Without Money.

The Times correspondent adds: "The position of the Young Turk Government is generally believed to be very unstable. The treasury is empty and it is not known how it will be possible to supply the army with provisions."

Fuller particulars of the Young Turk coup are given by the correspondent, who asserts: "The Government had been repeatedly warned of the possibilities of action by the (Young Turk) committee, but Kiomal (then Grand Vizier) was serenly indifferent and his confidence in Nazim Pasha prevented the Government taking any precaution. The consequence was that not more than a few hundred were present when the reins of government were seized and of these a large percentage were generally spectators. The guard at the Porte stood at ease watching the proceedings with vacant smiles or complete indifference and two blocks away no one seemed to know or care what was happening."

Nazim Pasha's death, the correspondent describes as a foul murder. The autopsy on the officers killed disclosed that the bodies bore dagger wounds, as well as bullet wounds. Concerning the causes of the movement, he wires:

"There has been much talk of an Austrian-Jewish-German intrigue. In circles favorable to the last Cabinet large quantities of money are said to have been distributed. The affair is even connected with the German delay in subscribing to the joint note of the Powers. It is impossible to say how much truth there is in such reports.

"That Mahmoud Shafket Pasha, whose absence from the Grand Council should have been a warning, Ishmael Kakki Pasha, the ex-Vali of Van and a leading supporter of the committee, have been regular visitors at night at the German and Austrian embassies is notorious, but it proves nothing."

Government Gets Funds.

Count Leon Oslerog, wiring to the Daily Telegraph from Constantinople Sunday evening, confirms the statement appearing in the Ottoman press that the Government has succeeded in obtaining financial support. He says:

"Huequenin, the director of the Anatolian Railways, in return for the concessions for the Metropolitan Railways of Constantinople, has undertaken to obtain for the Government a $10,000,000 advance from the Duetsche Bank."

Hakki Pasha has positively refused the foreign portfolio and it has been offered to Prince Said Halim, an Egyptian Prince. He is President of the Council of State and secretary of the Committee of Union and Progress.

MORE ALL-STEEL TRAINS ON WABASH RAILROAD

General Passenger Agent McNamara, under the guiding hands of William K. Bixby, Frederic A. Delano and Edward B. Pryor, receivers for the Wabash company, has made many new innovations for the betterment of the road, the latest of which is the installation of two more all-steel trains between St. Louis and Kansas City. These trains were made part of the all-steel equipment of the Wabash system Sunday, when Mr. McNamara entertained a party of railroad men and friends on a trip from St. Louis to Moberly, Mo. Mrs. McNamara was the hostess.

The westbound train leaves Union Station at 9 a. m., Delmar avenue 9:16 a. m., arriving in Kansas City 5:20 p. m. The eastbound train leaves Kansas City 10 a. m., arriving at Delmar avenue at 6:08 p. m. and St. Louis Union Station at 6:30 p. m. Each train consists of seven cars, all steel, and so constructed that engineers declare there is no possibility of telescoping them. All cars are electrically lighted and steam-heated. The sleepers and chair car, have dark-green glass on the upper parts of the windows, thus affording a chromatic combination that rests the eye of the travelers—a feature of the new trains. No extra charge is made by the Wabash railroad for tickets on these trains.

Among those whom General Passenger Agent McNamara entertained on the trip to Moberly Sunday were:

Miss Delphine Force, Miss Elinor Maxwell, William Ledbretter and Mrs. Ledbretter, Miss Mary Brotherton, J. H. White and Mrs. White, W. E. Babb and Mrs. Babb, J. F. Scanlan, F. B. Kendrick, H. Hackel, Felix Corintius, Otto Pfeiffer, L. Rausch, J. H. Dacey and Mrs. Dacey, G. M. Hart, H. M. Dressell, R. G. Yost; A. W. Sanders, Will J. Thornton and G. E. Shinall.

EVA TANGUAY HAS MAN ARRESTED FOR THREATS

Astrologist to Whom She Sent $1 and Date of Birth Said to Have Demanded $100.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Eva Tanguay, to show there are some things about which she does care, had William J. Trahey, who said he was a shipwright of Brooklyn, arrested and locked up on a charge of sending her threatening letters.

"About a year ago," Miss Tanguay said, "I got a letter from Trahey offering to tell my fate by stars. What followed was partly my fault, as I am interested in astrology. I sent the man a dollar and the date of my birth, Aug. 1, 1878. In his answer he said I was a child of the run, and that all the stars pointed to the fact that I would marry him. I laughed. Then more letters came, till I had received about 200. The last ones were threatening and abusive. The man said I owed him $100. I took the letters to my lawyer and he brought about Trahey's arrest."

WIFE BEGS TO GO TO CELL IN PLACE OF HER HUSBAND

Offers Also to Serve Penitentiary Term, if Magazine Swindler Should Be Convicted.

After inducing her husband, William Finke, to confess that he had been fraudulently representing himself as a solicitor for various magazines, Mrs. Leona Finke, 21 years old, tearfully begged, Sunday afternoon, that she be permitted to take his place in a cell at the Deer Street Station and go to the penitentiary in his stead if such a sentence were imposed. Finke and his wife have been boarding at 3957 Forest Park boulevard.

"He is all I have," she said to Detectives Vasey and Lawler. "Let him go and take me, for I would rather be in prison and let him be free."

The young woman wept when told that such a course is not possible, and begged them to see if they could not find a statute permitting her to make the sacrifice.

Finke, who is 25 years old, was arrested Saturday afternoon at Grand avenue and Harper street. He denied that he had done anything wrong, but when his wife learned of his arrest, she went to the police station and urged him to make a full statement to the police.

Finke was silent a moment and then said to her:

"Well, I did it, but I did it for you. I wanted you to live comfortably and have nice things and I was unable to earn enough money in a legitimate way."

It was then that Mrs. Finke made her plea in his behalf.

After being removed to police headquarters, Finke repeated his confession to reporters, but declared he had worked only two days in St. Louis and had collected only $8.

From Mrs. Granville Hogan of 3927 West Pine boulevard, a daughter of Henry Kiel, he got $1.75, he said; from Mrs. Robert V. Aycock of the same address, $1.25; from Mrs. John B. Smith of 3501 Dodier street, 50 cents, and from Mrs. Myra Moberly of 3223 Dodier street, 25 cents.

Finke said he met his wife in Milwaukee two years ago, when he was legitimately soliciting subscriptions for a low-priced magazine. She was then Miss Leona Phillippi, a stenographer, he said. It was love at first sight, he declared, and after a short courtship they eloped to Chicago.

He said he had found the fake propositions harder to push than the legitimate subscription offers.

T. R. ADDRESS BY PHONE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Theodore Rosevelt will deliver an address, probably in the quiet of his library, at Oyster Bay tonight.

It will be heard, however, through individual telephones by 200 guests at a dinner in honor of James Shongut, a local Progressive leader, in a Broadway restaurant.

Would-Be Assassin's Aim Is Poor.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—A Barcelona dispatch reports an attempt to assassinate Archduke Louis Salvator of Tuscany. While the Archduke was walking in the grounds of his estate at Miramir in the Balearic Islands, a workman fired at him several times. One of the bullets grazed the Archduke and severely wounded a governess.

BAD WEATHER FOR THE LUNGS

This Time of the Year Dangerous for Weak Tissues.

Take care of your lungs in winter and early spring is the warning that should be heeded by those who are susceptible to colds and coughs.

Any preparation which can show improvement in lung diseases during this time of the year is worthy of the attention of all sufferers. A preparation of this calibre is Sirolin, the Swiss lung treatment which has caused such a sensation abroad in the treatment of diseases of the respiratory organs.

Sirolin, though very powerful in attacking the tubercle bacilli, contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. It seems to agree with the most delicate stomach, and creates an appetite that would do credit to a healthy man, thus making it a great body builder.

Sufferers from Consumption or weak lungs should not fail to secure the aid of Sirolin to assist them back to health.

Information about Sirolin can be secured in this country from the Sirolin Co., 228 West Broadway, New York City. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Stores and all leading druggists are recommending and distributing Sirolin with considerable success.—ADV.

MUNICIPAL COURTS BILL IS DRAWN FOR BAR ASSOCIATION

Would Do Away With Justices of the Peace and Court of Criminal Correction.

Two reports dealing with court procedure will be submitted at a special meeting of the St. Louis Bar Association, to be held Monday evening at the University Club. While the committeemen who are to submit the reports would not divulge their contents Monday, in advance of the meeting, it is understood that they will be divergent in important particulars and their submission will probably precipitate a lively discussion.

The special Municipal Courts Committee, of which Judge Daniel G. Taylor is chairman, will ask the association to approve a new municipal courts bill, which is ready for introduction into the Legislature. The standing Committee on Judiciary, of which W. L. Sturdevant is chairman, will make recommendations for the modification of court jurisdiction and procedure.

The associates of Judge Taylor on the Municipal Courts Committee are F. N. Judson, Judge O'Neill Ryan, Samuel B. McPheeters, Charles M. Houts, Roy F. Britton and E. M. Grossman. The committee has been at work for 15 days, evolving out of bills rejected by past Legislatures one that, in the opinion of the committee, will have a chance to pass. Changes suggested by the last Legislature and by members of the present Legislature and by members of the Bar Association have been considered in preparing the present bill and the members think they now have a bill that is not only constitutional but will meet with the approval of the people. It is intended to simplify and expedite court procedure and cut down court costs.

If the bill is approved by the Bar Association it will be introduced in the Legislature at once.

The bill creates a Municipal Court of nine judges to take the place of the Court of Criminal Correction and the justice courts. Members of the committee think that by cutting out features of former bills that were objectionable they have strengthened the bill.

Chairman Sturdevant of the Judiciary Committee said that the report of his committee would be exhaustive and would cover administrative matters and recommend modifications of jurisdiction. He would not discuss it further in advance of the meeting, but intimated that he might have a good deal to say after the meeting.

Testifies Election Judge Entered Voting Booths

inability or action for cause by the Election Board.

Witness Anxious About Fees.

Harry Hilliker, who served as a Republican Judge in the Fourth Precinct of the Fifth Ward, was the first witness to testify at the afternoon session. He is a range maker and resides at 107 North Broadway.

Before answering a question as to his name and address, Hilliker wanted to know if he would receive witness fees and when assured he would, he scratched his head dubiously and remarked that he was not paid two years ago when he testified in a similar contest.

Attorney Franklin Miller, representing Dyer, reminded the witness that he was paid by Congressman Dyer, who was one of the contestants on the former occasion. Hilliker said he might have received the money, but he could not recall it.

Hilliker testified that the ballots and ballot box used in the Fourth Precinct of the Fifth Ward were in the custody of Daniel Sweeney, a Democratic judge, during the time the polls were open. No Republican judge was sitting near Sweeney, Hilliker stated.

When asked about the condition of Vaughn, a former witness, who, another witness had stated, appeared to have been drinking, Hilliker said he also believed Vaughn was slightly intoxicated, because he was "shooting off his mouth about the Bull Moose ticket not getting a square deal." He said he saw no other evidence of Vaughn's intoxication on the part of Vaughn.

Illiterate Voters Not Sworn.

Hilliker, after testifying that he did not verify the statements of some voters that they were illiterate, said he did not see Sweeney alter any ballots, except those of voters who requested him to do so. When asked to describe the procedure when Sweeney would fill out a ballot Hilliker replied: "Whenever a man came in and asked Sweeney to help him out, Sweeney would tear off a ballot and go to work on it."

Sweeney did not administer the necessary oath to those who claimed to be illiterate, Hilliker said. The witness also said he did not see Sweeney go into a booth with any of the voters, as had been testified to by a previous witness.

The Democratic watchman on duty at the polling place, according to Hilliker, was William Hoppe, who is not a registered voter in the precinct. Hoppe was in and out during the day, Hilliker said, rounding up "lodging house bums" and seeing that they voted.

Hilliker said the election was the most orderly one in the precinct in many years.

$500,000 SAVED BY PARCEL POST IN FIRST 15 DAYS

Senator Bourne Also Declares New System Is Not Hardship on Carriers.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Not only has the parcel post saved the people of the United States in the first 15 days of its existence more than $500,000, according to Senator Bourne Jr., author of the law, but it has not proved a hardship to the overworked letter carriers. Senator Bourne today announced that reports from 45 leading cities in the country, which produce almost half of the postal revenues, showed that in the 12 working days between Jan. 1 and 15, a total of 5,094,027 outgoing parcels were dispatched, at a cost of $395,286, or about 7.7 cents a parcel.

"Under the postage rates previously in force, 1 cent per ounce," said the Senator, "the postage would have been an average of 18½ cents a parcel, or a total of $942,394.90, thus showing a saving to shippers of $547,508.12 on 12 days' business. It should also be remembered that the usual minimum charge of express companies is 25 cents a parcel, whereas the average charge on the parcel post packages was only 7.7 cents.

"Although the business was large, it was distributed through a large postal organization so that no congestion has resulted. The postoffice clerks in these 45 cities have handled an average of only 28 parcels each a day, this including both incoming and outgoing parcels. The total number of parcels delivered in these cities makes an average of only 9 1-3 parcels a carrier each day."

MRS. GUGGENHEIM IN NEW ACTION TO SET ASIDE DIVORCE

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Judge Heard today continued until Feb. 7 the hearing of arguments on the motion of State's Attorney Hoyne to expunge from the records all proceedings which resulted in the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Grace Brown Guggenheim from William Guggenheim on the ground that the decree was obtained fraudulently.

The counsel for Guggenheim is engaged in the trial of another case.

If the motion is granted, the effect of the present proceeding will be to nullify the divorce. Both Guggenheim and his former wife have married again since the granting of the divorce.

Attorney S. S. Gregory, representing Guggenheim, made a preliminary statement to the Court in which he denied having attended a midnight conference at the home of Judge Heard at Mount Carroll, Ill.

UNMUZZLED AND UNLICENSED DOGS' OWNERS ARE FINED

One Man Fined $5 and Another $10 in the Dayton Street Police Court.

Two owners of unmuzzled unlicensed dogs were fined Monday by Judge Sanders in the Dayton Street Police Court. George McQuade of 3022 Magazine street was fined $5, and Joseph W. Fleig of 2230 Carr street was fined $10 and costs.

McQuade's dog, the testimony showed, wore neither muzzle nor license plate, and bit Thomas Manser, 8 years old, of 3024 Magazine street. Fleig owns two dogs, one of which, according to the testimony, had bitten a child. McQuade and Fleig were convicted on charges of keeping unlicensed dogs, conviction on the single charge of keeping an unmuzzled dog being impossible.

The police Monday were informed of four more persons attacked by vicious unmuzzled dogs.

Miss Mamie Harrington of 1016 North Nineteenth street was bitten on the palm of the right hand by a dog owned by her. The bite was cauterized by Dr. Konzleman of 1730 Franklin avenue. Miss Harrington had a license for the dob, but requested that the City Marshal be asked to take the dog and this was done.

Thomas Manser Jr., 8 years old, playing with other boys in the rear of his home, 3024 Magazine street, was bitten on the left leg by an unlicensed dog, owned, the police say, by George McQuade of 2022 Magazine street. The injury was cauterized at the Cummings pharmacy, Webster and Cass avenues.

A stray dog taken captive by Raymond Niedringhaus, 13 years old, 5012R Blair avenue, atacked his sister, Frances, 7 years old, biting her on the right ear. Dr. Joseph A. Sauls, 2001 East Grand avenue, cauterized the wound. The dog is held at the Niedringhaus home for the city bacteriologist.

Thomas Braddock, 4 years old, living with his parents at 3447 Henrietta street, playing on the sidewalk in front of 3456 Eads avenue was bitten on the left wrist by a stray dog. Dr. Charles Emerson of 3870 Easton avenue cauterized the bite. The dog escaped.

"Miss Marlowe simply had to take a rest," said Mrs. Benham. "She isn't sick, just played out."

DELAWARE ASPIRANT FOR SENATE 4 VOTES SHORT

DOVER, Del., Jan. 27.—The senatorial deadlock, brought about by the four Democratic members of the Legislature from Kent County, who are standing out for the election of a United States Senator from their own county, is still in force.

Willard Saulsbury of New Castle County, the leading Democratic candidate, today received 24 votes, three short of the necessary number to elect. The Republicans as heretofore, scattered their votes.

Fair Weather in Sight for Most of Present Week

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.

PRESSURE distribution over the Northern Hemisphere, according to the weekly Weather Bureau bulletin, indicates that after some rains and snows over the upper lake region eastward Monday, the weather will be generally fair over the middle and northern districts east of the Mississippi during the first half of the week, while in the South there will be rains.

"Following the eastward movement of a depression now over the upper lake region and Ontario," says the bulletin, "there will be a considerable fall in temperature north of the Ohio River and in the lower Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys, but no unusually low temperatures are expected.

"A disturbance will appear over the North Pacific Coast and British Columbia early in the week, attended by rains and snows. It will move eastward and southeastward, reaching the Northern plains states Tuesday or Wednesday and the eastern districts by Thursday and will be followed by rising pressure and lower temperatures that will reach the Northeastern portion of the country by the end of the week, by which another disturbance should appear in the far Northwest.

"Over the interior central and southern districts west of the Rocky Mountains fair weather will prevail during the greater portion of the week, while in the South generally fair weather is indicated during the second half of the week.

Cured her boy's eczema

"We cured our little son of eczema with Resinol. His legs were as raw as could be. It began with just little pimples. He could not rest or sleep, the itching was so bad. We tried every remedy we could think of but they did not seem to do him any good. After he suffered like that for about three months, we then began to wash him with Resinol Soap, and then used Resinol Ointment. They cured him in about two weeks, and he has never had any symptoms of eczema again." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. McCollum, Shoals, N. C.

Resinol heals skin humors

THERE is no need of suffering from eczema, ringworm, tetter or other itching, burning, unsightly eruption. With the first use of Resinol Ointment and Soap, the itching and burning stop, and healing begins. After Resinol has quickly removed the last trace of the trouble, Resinol Soap for toilet and bath will usually keep the skin clear and healthy.

Resinol is not an experiment. For 18 years it has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for skin eruptions, pimples, dandruff, burns, sores, piles, etc. Resinol Ointment, (50c and $1) and Resinol Soap (25c) sold by all druggists. For sample of each, write to Dept. 17-B, Resinol Chem. Co., Baltimore, Md.

By RIPLEY D. SAUNDERS.

"EXCEEDING the Speed Limit," which began a week's engagement at the Century Theater on Sunday evening with Carter de Haven as its star, is a quick-fire musical farce of hilarious humor, played at a full gallop by young Mr. de Haven and a clever supporting company.

Adapted from the French of Antony Mars, its story has been very much toned down for American presentation, but still skates on the thin ice of Gallic "riskiness" in lines and situations at certain moments. It is full of laughs, and, fortunately, the laughter is provoked by the real fun of its breezy incidents rather than by suggestiveness linked to comedy.

Carter de Haven owes his present prominence to his possession of a very nimble pair of heels, a fair singing voice and an exceedingly rapid acting method. He is strongly reminiscent of the George M. Cohan of some ten years or more ago, and seems to have gained much of the popularity first won by the agile Mr. Cohan as an eccentric dancer and even more eccentric singer.

This is about all there is to his art, but it seems to be enough to gain the favor of the playgoing public whose verdict of unqualified approval made Cohan himself the founder of a new school of song-and-dance agility on the American stage.

In "Exceeding the Speed Limit" the new star has the role of Jack Newton, secretary of a Social Purity League, a gay young man-about-town who has accepted this decidedly inconsistent position because he is in love with the pretty daughter of a high officer of the league.

But it so chances, as well, that Jack Newton is a tremendous favorite with many other young women, being of such general attractiveness that he is commonly known as "Jack Darling," and, because of this vogue, he becomes the storm-center of a bewildering series of diverting complications.

These complications now and then reach the "danger line" of French candor in the handling of such material, despite the care with which the farce has been reshaped for its American using.

Young Mr. de Haven plays the role with the breeziness demanded by such a part and acquits himself as a farceur of considerable skill. He is well supported by an evenly balanced company, prominent in which is Dorothy Morton, who was Libby McCarty of St. Louis in her girlhood days.

Miss Morton now is cast as Adelina Kelly, an Irish housekeeper, the role played by Elizabeth Murray until the close of the play's Chicago engagement last week. She scored quite a hit in the first-night performance of "Exceeding the Speed Limit" on a St. Louis stage, more than once dividing honors with De Haven himself.

Others of note in the cast were Fred Bond as Dr. Charles Weyland, a "sporty" physician; John L. Kearney as Prof. Jones of the purity league; Marion Bell as Mabel, his daughter; Flora Parker as Josephine, one of the many admirers of the fascinating Jack Newton; Clara Palmer as Francesca, wife of Dr. Weyland; Jay Wilson as John Leary, a policeman, and Abner Symmons as Finnegan, a detective.

The play's song numbers include "When Love Calls You," sung by Clara Palmer; "I'd Like to Marry Them All," by Carter de Haven and the chorus; "It's a Secret," by Carter de Haven and Flora Parker; "My Turkish Opal," by Dorothy Morton; "Darling," by Carter de Haven and Flora Parker; "Home to You," and "I Want a Little Lovin'," by Doroothy Morton; "Hang Together," by Carter de Haven, Fred Bond, Albert Parker and Flora Parker; "Story Medley," by Carter de Haven, and "That Champagne Glide," by Carter de Haven, Flora Parker and the company.

RELIGIOUS AND FRATERNAL STATISTICS are fully covered and carefully compiled in the 1913 World Almanac and Encyclopedia—the library in one volume. On sale at the Post-Dispatch counter. Price 30c, by mail 35c.

The pianos for this co-operative sale were personally selected at the factory by Mr. P. E. Conroy, our President, and upon arrival are being tested and inspected by Mr. Charles Galloway, Conductor of Apollo and Morning Choral Clubs.

One of the big advantages of this co-operative plan (to you, the buyer) is in the easy terms: Compare these terms with regular terms

COPYRIGHT 1912 BY STONE & McCARRICK, INC.

Copyright, 1912, by Stone & McCarrick, Inc.

SUPPOSE you have now come to the point of putting a piano in your home. You start out to look at pianos.

In the first store you come to—they will evade the question altogether when you ask the terms on this or that piano. On the other hand, they will question you—with the view of finding out just how much you can pay. In other words—they will try to get the highest terms that you will agree to pay.

At the next store you visit—they may not quibble about terms. When you have found a piano, however, of a grade and quality to compare favorably with these we are selling through this co-operative plan, you will be asked to pay twenty-five dollars cash and ten, twelve or fifteen dollars a month. Under no circumstances will the terms be less than fifteen dollars cash and ten dollars a month.

In still other stores—you may find pianos at "a dollar down, a dollar a week." But look them over. They are "dollar down and dollar a week" pianos.

Now come to see these pianos: Look at them. There is no uncertainty about the price on these pianos. It is marked in plain figures on each and every piano.

There is no hesitancy about the terms. They also are marked in plain figures.

The proposition has been carefully thought out and worked out.

NOTE:

These are the celebrated Marshall & Wendell Pianos and Player-pianos; an old standard make, made since 1853.

The price has been made as low as the most thoroughly organized and most economical selling methods permit.

The terms have been made as easy, and the time in which to pay has been made as long as the small profit will justify.

You pay only five dollars as an initial payment which is immediately placed to your credit and ensures immediate delivery of your instrument.

This leaves a balance of two hundred and forty-three dollars and seventy-five cents to be paid, which you are permitted to pay in one hundred and ninety-five weeks at one dollar and twenty-five cents a week. This is progressive merchandising. It is a combined effort on the part of the manufacturer and the seller to make two buyers where there used to be but one, through the strongest incentive known—that of a greatly lessened price and greatly lengthened time in which to pay.

¶ Through this co-operative effort we are offering to 300 persons a Marshall & Wendell piano for two hundred and forty-eight dollars and seventy-five cents, the same as has been selling for years at varying prices from three hundred and fifty to four hundred dollars.

They are offered at one stable price and that the lowest at which such pianos have ever been sold. The price has the advantage of not only being the lowest but it is the utmost price, as well. For when you have paid the two hundred and forty-eight dollars and seventy-five cents, there are then no further payments staring you in the face. No interest—no extras bobbing up—but just one low, stable and absolutely fixed price of two hundred and forty-eight dollars and seventy-five cents covering everything.

This plan makes it as easy to own as to rent a piano

After reading over this plan; after digesting it thoroughly—can't you see the ease with which you can own a piano?

Can't you see that you can own your own piano or player-piano as cheaply as you can rent the "other fellow's"? Can't you see the ease with which you can educate your family, musically?

1.25 week

The initial payment necessary to obtain one of these pianos is FIVE DOLLARS. The five dollars is deducted from the price—leaving TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY-THREE DOLLARS AND SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS to be paid at ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS a week, with NO INTEREST or further payments of any nature.

Let us show you something:

Suppose you bought a piano in the regular way—paying ten dollars a month for it. Add to this ten dollars—an additional five dollars a month — at least — for piano lessons. This makes fifteen dollars a month you will have to invest for music—for at least two and one-half to three years.

But buy your piano on this Co-operative plan and it will cost you but one dollar and twenty-five cents a week. Now add the five dollars a month for piano lessons to this amount and you have only ten dollars a month invested in music. You are still buying and paying for your piano—paying out the same amount of money for musical instruction—and yet have sixty dollars a year left to spend in some other direction.

Who should take advantage of this plan

(1). Any Sunday School, Lodge, Society, Class, Club or Association which can use a piano to advantage. An assessment of only a penny or two a week from each member will meet the dues.

(2). Music Teachers—even those who may now own other pianos, and especially those who are just beginning.

(3). Piano students will find this an exceptionally fine practice piano, and of greater value in exchange in proportion to what it cost, than any other piano in which they can possibly invest.

(4). Young persons who, through one cause or another, are obliged to buy and pay for their piano, if they ever expect to own one.

(5). Any one and every one who is now renting a piano.

(6). Theaters, moving-picture shows, and other places of amusement cannot possibly make a better investment than in one of these player-pianos.

(7). Bachelors should put one of these player-pianos in their dens. There are two styles especially suited to this use.

(8). Business and professional men who want to get completely away from their work for an hour or so a day should by all means get one of these player-pianos.

Player-pianos can be purchased on the same co-operative plan

One Hundred player-pianos are also being sold on this co-operative plan.

The usual price of these player-pianos is five hundred and fifty dollars each.

The co-operative price will be three hundred and ninety-five dollars, with NO INTEREST to be added.

The player-piano will also be delivered immediately upon the payment of five dollars.

The payments will be two dollars a week—giving you one hundred and ninety-five weeks' time in which to make your payments—the same as on the piano. The same unconditional guarantee that is given on the piano is given on the player-piano.

You can also get your money back at any time within thirty days.

You get the same privilege of exchanging within a year as that given with the piano.

All of the unpaid balances will be voluntarily canceled in event of death.

Also, a player-piano bench and nine rolls of music (your own selection) are included without extra charge.

An arrangement will be made with each purchaser whereby new player rolls can be procured at a cost of only 5 cents a roll.

These player-pianos are standard 88-note players; that is, they play every note on the piano when the music roll is in motion. These player-pianos have an automatic shifter, which compels the music to play perfectly. Most player-pianos sold at from two hundred to two hundred and fifty dollars more than these will not play perfectly. These player-pianos have lead tubing. Most player-pianos have rubber tubing. The life of rubber is one year—at most. Lead lasts forever. It cannot wear out and the tubing in these player-pianos is so placed it cannot be broken.

¶ All of the features of the co-operative plan are carried out in offering the player-pianos, with the single exception that the terms on the player-piano are two dollars a week instead of—as on the piano—one dollar and twenty-five cents a week.

TWO CONSUMPTION CURES RACING FOR $1,000,000 PRIZE

Banker's Offer for Recovery of Son-in-Law Is the Stake to Be Captured.

DR. FRIEDMANN TO SAIL

Same Ship to Bring Vaccine From Pierkowski Laboratory to Saranac Lake.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1913, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Dr. Friederich Friedmann has told the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he has not yet accepted the offer of $1,000,000 made by President Charles E. Finlay of the Aetna National Bank of New York if with his live germ tuberculosis vaccine he will cure Rex Lee Paris, a son-in-law of Finlay, who is ill of consumption and now under treatment at Saranac Lake, N. Y.

"Whether I shall do so between now and my departure for New York, or when I get there, I cannot say at this time," said Dr. Friedmann.

Race for $1,000,000 Prize.

It is said the rival live germ tuberculosis vaccine from the Pierkowski laboratory is to go to Saranac Lake on the steamship Mauretania, along with Dr. Friedmann and his vaccine, and it is expected there will be a race for the $1,000,000 prize offered by Banker Finlay. The Pierkowski cultures are in charge of S. Prescott Simpson of Cleveland, O.

"The preliminary steps to enable the German Government to apply my remedy for the benefit of humanity are taken with my full knowledge and consent," Dr. Friedmann said. "The arrangements are being made by Prof. Schleich, who is fully instructed in my process and is able, if necessary, to continue my special work during my absence in America. I tell you this to show that it is not true that I have given no doctor of standing an opportunity of testing my remedy.

"Prof. Schleich goes tomorrow to see Director Kirchner at the German Imperial Ministry of the Interior.

"If there is another live germ vaccine cure for tuberculosis extant I am only too glad to learn that such is the case, because suffering humanity in that event has a choice of remedies. But I must observe that Dr. Karfunkle cannot be using my remedy. His culture, if I understand his claim correctly, is derived from an originally virulent human tuberculosis bacilli that has been artificially made virulent by passing them through the blood of a turtle. I discarded my artificially neutralized human bacilli.

Not Human Bacilli.

"What I now employ never was human bacilli, but is a culture derived from turtle tuberculosis germs which has never come into contact with human bacilli and which, therefore, never has contained germs of human tuberculosis.

"My bacilli are purely of turtle origin. I should hesitate to treat humans with artificially virulent human bacilli, because you cannot possibly be sure the bacilli will not recover their viculence when returned to the human body. My bacilli were originally reptile, and are less virulent."

RECONCILIATION FAILS, WIFE DRINKS POISON

Mrs. Ida May Pauls Takes Acid in Plows Candy Store, but Will Recover.

In the presence of her 9-year-old daughter, Margaret Clancy, and a score of women, Mrs. Ida May Pauls of 1423 Bremen avenue drank carbolic acid Sunday night at Plow's candy store, 521 Olive street, using a glass from which she had taken an ice cream soda.

After draining the glass Mrs. Pauls sent her daughter to pay for the sodas, walked out of the store and fell unconscious on the sidewalk. She was sent to the city hospital, where physicians said she would recover.

Mrs. Pauls said she became despondent because she was unable to effect a reconciliation with her husband, Otto E. Pauls, to whom she was married seven years ago. Pauls lives with his mother, Mrs. Ida Luke, at 4229 North Euclid avenue. He was informed of his wife's attempt to kill herself but refused to go to the hospital to see her, his mother said.

Mrs. Pauls said her husband had been grieving over the death of Bernardine Pauls, 9 years old, his daughter by a former marriage. The child was burned to death in a gasoline explosion last February.

MAN, NOT WOMAN, SOCIAL EVIL CAUSE, ASSERTS JOHN D. JR.

Oil King's Son Declares, in Opening War on Traffic, It Is Menace to Humanity.

ORGANIZES FOR A FIGHT

Outlines Purposes of Uplift Bureau and Plans for Helping Victims.

By Associated Press.

NEWPORT, Jan. 27.—Man, not woman, is responsible for the organized commercial social evil in this country, in the opinion of John D. Rockefeller Jr. "It is a man's business, run for profit, and the profit is large."

These views are expressed in a statement made public by Rockefeller today as to the aims of the Bureau of Social Hygiene, through which he and other philanthropists hope to attack and alleviate conditions which he considers "the greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race."

He says that at the time of his service on a grand jury in 1910, he came "to realize the extent and horror of the evil and to believe that it constituted one of the great and vital world problems of the day. In the judgment of eminent medical men, it forms from the point of view of disease, the greatest single menace to the perpetuation of the human race."

Victim of Circumstances.

As to whether the unfortunate woman is a victim or a contributor to her own career, Rockefeller says:

"I say unhesitatingly that in the majority of cases she is a victim. The evil, as now conducted in this country and in Europe, is very largely a man's business; the women are merely tools in the hands of the stronger sex. It is a business run for profit and the profit is large.

"It is my belief that less than 25 per cent of the victims in this country would have fallen if they had had an equally good chance to lead a pure life. That they have been dragged into the mire in such large numbers is due to a variety of circumstances, among which are poverty, low wages, improper home conditions and lack of training, the desire to gratify the natural craving for amusement, and pretty things. But while all of these and many others may be contributing causes, man is chiefly responsible for their fall."

The oil king's son previously had given out the following statement:

By JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR.,

The Bureau of Social Hygiene came into existence about two years ago, as a result of the work of the special grand jury appointed to investigate the white slave tarffic in New York City, which served during the first half of the year 1910. One of the recommendations made by it in the presentment handed up at the termination of its labors was that a public commission be appointed to study the social evil. The foreman of that body subsequently gave careful consideration to the character of the work which might properly be done by such a commission and the limitations under which it would operate. In this connection, separate, personal conferences were held with over a hundred leading men and women in the city, among whom were lawyers, physicians, business men, bank presidents, presidents of commercial organizations, clergymen, settlement workers, social workers, labor leaders and reformers.

The forces of evil are never greatly alarmed at the organization of investigating or reform bodies, for they know that they are generally composed of busy people, who cannot turn aside from their own affairs for any great length of time to carry on reforms, and that sooner or later their efforts will cease, and the patient denizens of the underworld and their exploiters can then reappear and continue the traffic as formerly.

Permanent Organization.

So the conviction grew that in order to make a real and lasting improvement in conditions, a permanent organization should be created, the continuation of which would not be dependent upon a temporary wave of reform, nor upon the life of any man or group of men, but which would go on, generation after generation, continuously making warfare against the forces of evil. It also appeared that a private organization would have, among other advantages, a certain freedom from publicity and from political bias, which a publicly appointed commission could not so easily avoid.

Therefore, as the initial step, in the winter of 1911, the Bureau of Social Hygiene was formed. Its present members are Miss Katherine Bement Davis, superintendent of the New York State Reformatory for Women at Bedford Hills, New York; Paul M. Warburg, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Starr J. Murphy, of the New York bar, and John D. Rockefeller Jr. As the work develops, new members may be added.

One of the first things undertaken by the bureau was the establishment at Bedford Hills, adjacent to the reformatory, of a laboratory of social hygiene, under Miss Davis' direction. In this laboratory it is proposed to study from the physical, mental, social and moral side each person committed to the reformatory. This study will be carried on by experts and each case will be kept under observation for from three weeks to three months, as may be required. When the diagnosis is completed, it is hoped that the laboratory will be in position to recommend the treatment most likely to reform the individual, or, if reformation is impossible, to recommend permanent custodial care.

Careful Study of Evil.

In entering upon its labors, the bureaus regarded it of fundamental importance to make a careful study of the social evil in this country and in Europe, feeling that this problem, like any other great and difficult one, can be intelligently approached only by means of a thorough and complete knowledge of all the factors involved, as well as all the methods and experiences of other cities and countries in dealing with it. Arrangements were made, therefore, in the early part of last winter to secure the services of George J. Kneeland, who had directed the Chicago Vice Commission investigation.

At the same time, the bureau was fortunate in securing the services of Abraham Flexner, whose reports on the medical schools in this county and in Europe are so well known, to study the social evil and the various methods of dealing with it in the leading cities of Europe. Mr. Flexner spent the greater part of a year abroad, making a searching and exhaustive inquiry into the subject, and is now working on his report, which will be ready for publication this winter.

U.S. INVESTIGATES CONDITIONS AMONG FLOOD REFUGEES

St. Louis Army Officer Sent to Evansville District to Offer Federal Relief.

By Associated Press.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 27.—Capt. William Elliott, assistant to the Depot Quartermaster of the United States Army at St. Louis, has arrived in Evansville under assignment from Major-General Wood to survey flood conditions in this section and to furnish any relief from Federal resources that may be needed.

The assignment came in response to appeals from Kentucky, and Representative A. O. Stanley's proposal in the House Friday for a $1,000,000 appropriation for flood relief.

Capt. Elliott spent Sunday afternoon with Mayor Heilman and other flood relief workers who are familiar with conditions in the Evansville district. Mayor John H. Moeller of Mount Vernon, Ind., who conducted a relief party to Kentucky, conferred with the army officer. Mayor Heilman believes Federal aid will be most acceptable in the Ashbysburg, the Walnut bottoms and Uniontown districts, 50 miles below Evansville, in Kentucky. Capt. Elliott also will go to Shawneetown, Ill., before he returns to St. Louis.

Elliott will visit Ashbysburg and Uniontown. Ashbysburg, besides being inundated, with its inhabitants forced to live on a hill back of the town, is combating smallpox among refugees.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

ARRESTS SICKLES, FREES HIM, STARTS FUND TO HELP HIM

Sheriff, Friend of Veteran on Bond, Will Try to Make Up Shortage for General.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Gen. Daniel E. Sickles was technically placed under arrest at his Fifth avenue home this afternoon and immediately technically released under $30,000 bail furnished by a surety company. He is charged by the State with responsibility for a shortage of $23,476 in the funds of the New York Commission.

Although technically in custody for a moment, Gen. Sickles did not leave his home. Sheriff Harburger, who served the order of arrest, had purposely delayed his visit until the bond had been perfected. At the same time the Sheriff started a movement to make up the shortage by popular subscription.

Mrs. Sickles' Ultimatum.

Before the Sheriff announced his plan to prevent the sending of the war veteran, now 87 years old, to jail, the General's son, Stanton, said that his father must either accept the ultimatum of his wife or take the consequences. The ultimatum of Mrs. Sickles, delivered to her husband by her son, and as explained by the latter, was:

"The General will have to put out of his house and give up forever his housekeeper, Eleanor Earle Wilmerding. She is the person who has caused all the family differences, and as long as she remains where she can have any influence over him there can be no reconciliation.

"If he will put Miss Wilmerding out I will pay his debt of $23,000 to the State and save him from the disgrace of being arrested and jailed. If he chooses to remain under the domination of that woman he can go to prison and stay there."

The son yesterday afternoon carried this proposition to his father, who gave him a courtly but semi-formal audience in the drawing room of the old house on Fifth avenue. After listening to the terms, the General said:

"I will receive you and Mrs. Sickles here Monday and at that time will let you know my decision."

Canopy of Flags Above Him.

Afterwards the old General was a picturesque figure, as seen sitting at his window, by passersby in Fifth avenue. The room is filled with relics of the Civil War. Against his chair was his crutch. He lost a leg in the battle of Gettysburg. On a table near him was a vase of flowers. He was smoking a cigar. Above him was a canopy of American flags.

His son was the only visitor the General had yesterday. To all inquiries he sent word through his decrepit old negro valet, "Uncle Jimmy," that he didn't want to see anyone.

Ever Take An Internal Bath?

It Is the New and Scientific Nature=Cure for Many Ills

A most interesting method of Internal Bathing is now being shown and explained by the Judge & Dolph Drug stores. It is called the "J. B. L. Cascade," and is different from anything else ever used for the purpose.

You have undoubtedly noticed that constipation and billousness, besides bringing on much more serious ills, makes us feel nervous, yellow, blue—unfit to think or work—in fact, about 50 per cent Efficient.

Accumulated waste in the large intestine always causes these troubles and the old method of ridding ourselves of it are only partially effective. They force Nature, too, instead of assisting her.

This Internal Bath, however, is taken perfectly naturally—you just use the appliance and warm water—it assists Nature instead of forcing her, yet rids the system of the poisonous matter much more thoroughly than any drugs—it keeps one regular, too.

Inasmuch as many thousands are using and praising the "J. B. L. Cascade," and the most enlightened physicians are prescribing it, it would seem worth every one's while to see the Cascade at Judge & Dolph Drug Co., 515 Olive, Seventh and Locust, Broadway and Washington, St. Louis, Mo., and let the principles and operation of the system be thoroughly explained—this of course, involves no obligation whatever.

$10,000 SOUGHT FOR FAMILIES OF 3 DEAD FIREMEN

Mayor of East St. Louis Names Committee to Raise Fund—$2000 Suscribed.

East St. Louis mourned Monday for the three firemen who were killed in the Elks' Building fire Saturday night. Flags were at halfmast, firemen wore crape, and the triple fatality, with the funeral arrangements and the fund for the benefit of the firemen's families, were the chief subject of conversation.

The fund for the firemen's families reached $2000 Sunday, and Mayor Lambert will try to push it to the $10,000 mark while public interest in the matter is fresh. He has appointed a committee to collect contributions to this fund, consisting of Henry D. Sexton, R. E. Gillespie, Robert Bethman, R. R. Thomas, L. C. Haynes, J. L. Van Ness, M. A. Bright, Robert E. Conway, Frank Keating, Thomas L. Fekete Sr., C. B. Fox, Fred Lehman, Albert Meints, C. T. Jones, Michael Doyle, Leon G. Smith, Herman C. Thoene, Dr. H. C. Fairbrother, Chief of Police Overmire and Fire Chief Tobin.

The negro janitor of the building is said not to have been seen since the fire. The blaze, it has been found, originated in the boiler room, under the Avenue Pool Hall, and not beneath the Gately store. The negro was in charge of the boiler room. Two negro newsboys who sometimes slept in the building were sought since the fire, but the firemen say their investigations have shown that no lives but those of the three firemen were lost.

Loss Is Near $100,000.

Carl J. Vogel of 20 Benton place, St. Louis, owner of the Elks' Building, places his loss at $50,000. The stocks of the clothing and shoe stores and the contents of the Elks' clubrooms and other offices and business establishments in the three-story structure are believed to have aggregated a value nearly equal to that of the building. The contents of the building are almost a total loss.

The Gately clothing store, on the first floor, carried a small line of jewelry, and searchers have found several gold watches, partly melted, and a few diamonds. Policemen guarded the ruins while the search for valuables was made.

Moving pictures taken of the fire while the flames were high, from the top of an adjoining building, are said to have been successful. Moving pictures of a night fire are rare, but not unknown, as a set of films showing such a fire in Buenos Aires, Argentina, have been exhibited widely.

A committee consisting of William J. Veach, James F. Galvin and George Boismenue, worked with Mayor Lambert Monday morning on the arrangements for the funerals of the firemen, who were Lieut. John Connors and Pipemen Fred Ford and Joseph Croneis.

It is the plan to have the bodies lie in state from noon to 2 p. m. Tuesday in Engine House No. 1. Business in the downtown district will be suspended for the afternoon, and policemen will keep a line moving in order through the engine house.

At 2 p. m. the funeral procession will move from the engine house east to Tenth street and north to State street, after which the corteges will separate. The bodies of Connors and Ford will be buried in Mount Carmel Cemetery, and that of Croneis in Mount Hope Cemetery.

The East St. Louis Elks, it was announced Monday, will ask that Carnegie medals for heroism be awarded to Firemen Walter Kipping and Sidney Johnson. Kipping led in the effort to rescue his comrades at a time when there was still hope that they might be saved and entered the suffocating basement ahead of others. Johnson fell from the roof of the Elks' building, and caught on the guttering of the adjoining Commercial Building, cutting his hands severely.

Connors Leaves Eight Children.

Lieut. Connors had a wife and eight children and his home was at Fifteenth street and Gaty avenue. Conries was unmarried, and lives at 710 North Eighteenth street.

Mrs. William Ford of 2536 Waverly avenue, widow of Fred Ford, is in a serious condition. She is approaching motherhood, and the shock of her husband's death had effects which, the physicians fear, may be fatal. She has one son, 4 years old.

The City Council, a week ago, passed an ordinance providing that the widows of fireman killed in the performance of their duty shall receive one-half the husband's salary so long as they remain single, and that in the case of the widow's death or remarriage, minor children shall receive the pension.

The fire burned until 6 a. m. Sunday.

Panic in Hotel Fire.

"SCHOOL AGE" ENABLING ACT.

The text of the "school age" enabling act, conferring on local boards of education an authority additional to that conferred in the constitutional clause specifying those for whom educational facilities must be provided, is as follows:

> The Board of Directors or Board of Education of any school district in this State may provide for the gratuitous education of persons between five and six and over twenty years of age, resident in such school district. Such gratuitous education, however, shall be provided only out of revenues derived by such school district from sources other than those described in Section 6, Article XI, of the Constitution of this State, and only with so much of such revenues as are not required for the establishing and maintaining of free public schools in such school district for the gratuitous instruction of persons between the ages of six and twenty years; provided that nothing in this act shall be construed as affecting the basis of apportionment of the public school fund of this State as now fixed by law.

The bill has been carefully drawn to meet the legal necessities of a situation that ought to appeal to every legislator. In both houses the Education Committee has agreed to recommend it. It should really be entitled a bill to provide one more year of schooling for children put to work as soon as they reach the age at which they escape the compulsory education law. Only legislators who are ignorant of regrettable conditions existing in every large city of Missouri will vote against the measure.

WHERE THE PEOPLE HAVE THEIR SAY.

Capt. McCulloch says that, if he ran a newspaper, he would not print the letters in which the people have the only chance to express their opinions in public. Of course not. But if he could see the mass of such letters on the editor's desk, he would know how eagerly the people take advantage of this privilege, and what an important branch of publicity a good Letter Column is. How can any newspaper which does not permit its readers to express themselves through its columns pretend to represent the people?

UNCLE SAM'S BOY FARMERS.

Fifty of the best boy corn growers of the country are in Washington, guests of the Agricultural Department. Twenty-five are from the North and an equal number from the South. They will be introduced to the President, and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will distribute the prizes they have won.

This is an outcome of the boys' corn club movement, which was begun 10 years ago and spread all over the country. The membership runs above 67,000. The trips to Washington began in 1909, with four boys. In 1910 there were 13 winners of trips to the capital, who also won cash prizes aggregating over $40,000. In 1911, 20 won first prizes and trips. There are also girls' clubs, the members engaging in the growing of tomatoes, corn and other crops.

The products of some of these prize winning boys have been phenomenal. While the average yield of corn in this country for 1912 was 29.3 bushels, the members of the boys' corn clubs do not consider anything so trivial as 75 bushels an acre. Their crops have run all the way from 78 to 237 bushels an acre, the latter figure coming from Georgia. In the 1911 list of [illegible] prize winners, seven obtained yields of over 200 bushels per acre, and only two fell below 100 bushels.

This gratifying showing proves what can be done under scientific methods of intensive culture. It is an object lesson to farmers in general. It should have the effect of encouraging them to greatly increase the present low average in corn and other staples.

ST. LOUIS IS FULL GROWN.

We hope the members of the Business Men's League who go to Jefferson City to plead for the league's home rule bill will familiarize themselves with the fundamental principles of home rule and with the record of St. Louis in managing those departments which have been under complete city control.

It would be a grave blunder for a delegation of business men claiming to represent St. Louis and the sentiment of St. Louis people in seeking home rule to follow Mr. Capen's leadership in denying the desire or the capacity of St. Louis to manage her own finances, or to determine how many police the city ought to have and how much the police should be paid.

To ask in behalf of St. Louis home rule in the control of the police, election and excise departments, but foreign rule in the control of any part of our finances, in appropriating the revenues of the city and deciding how many employes the city shall have and what their salaries shall be is farcical. We want real home rule. We want the power to control all city departments and to pass upon the expenditure of every dollar of the city's revenues. St. Louis is full grown and is entitled to handle her own purse.

SOCIALISTS OF SEVEN STATES.

Official compilations of the 901,839 Socialist vote cast for Mr. Debs show that it was so distributed as to give that party rank above the Republican party in seven of the 48 states. Two of these states, of course, are California and South Dakota, where the Taft ticket was denied a place on the printed ballot. However, 3914 Californians found a way of casting their vote for Mr. Taft. Those who voted for Mr. Debs in that State numbered 79,201. In Florida the Socialist vote exceeded that cast for either the Republicans or the Progressives, and in Texas it was exceeded only a little by the vote for each of those two parties. In Arizona Mr. Debs polled 3163 votes, to 3021 for Mr. Taft, and in Louisiana he polled 5249 votes to 3934 for Mr. Taft. The Mississippi vote for Mr. Debs was [illegible] and for Mr. Taft 1511. The Nevada vote for Mr. Debs was 3263 and for Mr. Taft 3190.

The total Debs vote, nearly 22 per cent of the Roosevelt vote, or a little less than one-fourth, shows that Mr. Munsey has by no means exhausted the possibilities of holding companies. It was about 26 per cent of the total Republican vote.

The re-election of Mr. Warren in Wyoming will be useful in helping along the popular election of Senators, but why not exact from him a promise to submit to the recall, as New Mexico did in the case of Senator Fall?

ATTACKING THE INITIATIVE.

Petitions flooding the Legislature asking that the conditions on which the State's initiative and referendum system may be invoked shall be made more rigid are attributed to the enemies of the single tax. The probability is that much of the movement is due to a disguised hostility to the direct legislation principle itself. Advantage is taken of the unpopularity of the single tax to attack the initiative.

If the present system makes it too easy to submit direct legislation to the people, why not initiate a measure to amend the initiative? Why take up the time of the Legislature?

But opposition to measures giving the people direct control of legislation hardly becomes a 1913 Democratic Legislature.

THE CONVICT LABOR PROBLEM.

The end of the contract system at the Missouri Penitentiary will deprive the State in coming months of the large sums obtained from that method of employing the inmates. If a greatly increased financial burden for the maintenance of the institution is not to fall on the taxpayers, some new system for utilizing the earning power of the convicts must soon be put into effect by the present State administration.

Lightheartedly to decree the abolition of the objectionable contract system, in response to planks in the platforms of both parties and a strong public demand, is one thing—a very easy thing. To devise a satisfactory substitute is quite another thing. The latter undoubtedly will involve some additional expense for a time. Considerable experimentation will be necessary before practical results of value are achieved. Anxious effort devoted to it will not bring much public acclaim. But the problem must be faced and demands serious thought and attention.

Industries are operated on state account in some very successful prisons. Manufacture of sisal into binder twine and other cordage is a favorite industry in some states. The making of various kinds of furniture, including rattan furniture, pearl buttons, shirts and other garments on the state account system keeps many hundreds of convicts employed throughout the country. With care in marketing such products and abstention from price cutting, officials avoid offensive competition with free labor. The change from the old system to the new has been facilitated in some prisons by continuing on the state account plan for a while some of the industries formerly operated by contractors. Many states are turning to outdoor employment for convicts and purchasing a large acreage for prison farms.

The intent in Missouri was to introduce the New York plan of utilizing convicts to make products required in state institutions and state departments. Careful planning is necessary to success. With a prison farm, much of the food needed in asylums and other state institutions could be produced. The problem requires as much business and executive capacity as the management of a St. Louis industrial establishment employing 2500 men.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Neglect Makes Dogs Vicious.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Through the columns of this paper I would like to ask the reason of so many dogs biting and going mad. Surely there is a reason? Is it for the want of a bone, a drink of water? The garbage cans closed, water frozen, not a scrap to be found. Is it dogs' instinct to bite, to let you know they want food and water? The cruelty to animals is astonishing. Some years ago through the columns of our daily papers I suggested that professors and teachers in schools take the matter up and teach humanity to man and beast as well. Chicago and Oklahoma have taken it up, I notice. I hope St. Louis will do the same.

Then I went to another window, asked for a stamp, after waiting sometime for another ahead of me, then placed it on the package and took it back to the parcel post window and deposited it.

For the good of the public I would like to know why the first man could not keep stamps to supply them when needed?

If they would only stop to think of the days when they were young. Some girls are glad to get a chance to marry to get a home of their own. No Money Wanted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

For the S. F. E. P. League, Ladies and Gentlemen: Let us start the business in a business manner; that is, let all who join the league, chip in $1.00 a person. I think it would total up a nice round sum of dollars, and I wouldn't be surprised but what we could either buy the entire outfit or build a new one, and would suggest that we should bring about the matter so as to declare a seat for everybody or no money collected, and for that great purpose I would subscribe $100.

Yours for the right way of doing business,

Knocker Says St. Louis Is Dead.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Permit me to say that General Manager McCulloch is right in the statement he made to your reporter with regard to seats. As a casual observer of street railway conditions in this city I am of the opinion the people of St. Louis are served as well if not better than any other city of its size or greater in the world. I am a disinterested party, but the general manager's statement made an impression upon me I cannot overlook or forget and I do not believe you will have to await the happy millennium, when everyone wishing to be served by the public utilities company, especially morning and evening, can get a seat, to learn that this is a dead town. You already have the almost lifeless form on your hands and what you need now is "boosting," not "knocking," to bring the good old town back to life.

I am a traveling man, who visits all the large cities of the country and no doubt I am very apt to judge conditions and things by comparisons. Therefore, I frankly say, co-operate with the general manager and don't find fault with everything he does. He is working for the good of St. Louis as well as you are and he needs your support. You, as a newspaper, can do more good by co-operating than by knocking him personally or his company.

CASUAL READER FROM OUT OF TOWN.

Against the S. F. E. P. League.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As to giving a seat to every passenger that rides to and from work during the rush hours, I think any person who entertains such an idea should go a little further and stop and think, if possible. The kickers, writing these letters, like myself, will get the first car that comes along in the morning and repeat the same thing in the evening, and with everyone taking the first car it is unreasonable to suppose that everyone could have a seat, nor would it be possible to run so many cars and make any time at all.

If you have ever been in Chicago you will notice that the cars are packed, and the L cars of Chicago are even more packed in the morning and evening than St. Louis cars are. If you have ever been in New York, which is about the worst city I have been in, you will find that the subway (as well as the surface cars and L cars) are packed beyond reason. I am speaking from experience, as I had the pleasure of trying to ride in them while in New York for over a month last year, and in comparing the two cities and railway companies I can honestly say that St. Louis cars are not nearly as packed as a number of subway cars that I rode on while in New York. I have also been in such smaller cities as Kansas City, Louisville, Ky., and Denver and never saw a street railway that ran cars so as to accommodate passengers during the rush hour with seats, because it is absolutely impossible to run cars quite so close together.

I use the Hodiamont line and they run more cars than any other line and the cars are still crowded and they could not run any more than presently run during the rush hour, and adhere to getting passengers home in a reasonable time, as the United Railways do.

Walking a Lost Art.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is perfectly easy to get a seat in a street car if you know how. I will let you into the secret. Move to St. Louis County, and get a job east of Broadway. Coming to work mornings, you can take the car at the end of the line, and have it all to yourself for a few blocks. Going home you can get it at Broadway, and always have a seat. If you work west of Broadway, a walk of a block or two east will nearly always get a seat for you. But if you will observe the people who get on the cars at Seventh and Eighth streets in St. Louis to ride two or three blocks you will come to the conclusion that walking is a lost art in this burg. A little walking would be good for the constitution of these people who are always kicking about having to stand up in a street car. About all the exercise some people get is the jostling on the car while they are hanging to a strap.

SUBURBANITE.

COL. RANDALL REGRETTED IT.

From the New York Tribune.

The rag time singers who had been entertaining the late diners were resting and the orchestra struck up a medley of Southern airs. When they got to the first bar of "Maryland, My Maryland," a Southerner from as far South as South Orange, set up a "rebel yell" that would have saved Gettysburg to the forces of the Confederacy. He ran off the key when he tried to sing "We've been friends for 40 years," which he had learned from a subway "ad," to the tune of Tannenbaum, but that didn't stop him.

"All of this reminds me of the time I worked on a newspaper with James R. Randall, who wrote the words of 'Maryland, My Maryland,'" remarked a man who wanted to go home. "One day two of the reporters on the little Southern paper had filled up on corn liquor, and came into the very sanctum singing the song their chief had written. Col. Randall was writing an editorial and didn't look up until one of the reporters asked him if he had ever heard the song. 'Oh, yes,' replied Randall dryly, 'I believe I wrote it, but I never would have if I had dreamed it would be sung like that.'"

Deductive Reasoning.

From the Popular Magazine.

John E. Wilkie, famous for the way he has handled mystery cases, has learned the value of real clews and the discouragement attendant upon following bad ones. When you follow false evidence, he explained, you are like the little boy who came down to breakfast one morning and said:

"Mother, I think I've got the chickenpox. I found a feather in my bed this morning."

Widows' Pensions.

From the Newark News.

When a poor woman is widowed, or deserted, or her husband is in prison and there are children to support, the community, if only for its own sake, must do something about it. Either the mother must be pensioned so as to keep her family together or the little ones must be sent to institutions, which is an alternative to be avoided.

Unjust Tax.

From the Chicago Record-Hearold.

Col. Paty du Clam has not been able to live down the unpopularity he gained for himself in the Dreyfus case, and his reinstatement in the French army caused a furore and the resignation of the Minister of War. Our old friend, Pate de Foie Gras, however, is still greatly loved by the French people.

MR. ANTWINE AND THE INAUGURAL BALL.

MR. ANTWINE emerged from the depths of his newspaper, and looked around.

"It does seem that there won't be any inaugural ball," he said. "Mr. Wilson is against it, an' neither the Cut-Flower Trust nor the Ancient Order of Grand Dames is going to move him. The people in the foreign legations are packing their decorations an' medals, an' Washington society is in the worst way imaginable. Tons of gewgaws are a drug on the market. Dressmakers protest. Jewelers grieve. Caterers caterwaul.

"The great danger in the situation, as I see it, is Mr. Wilson's three daughters. They may pull him around to it yet. Their father was never President before. While it is unquestionably hard on the foreign diplomats, the grand dames and the trades people, it is even harder on the three daughters. They say nothing, but we are not deceived. It would have been the one great event of those four years in Washington—the Inaugural Ball.

"We shall see now of what stuff Mr. Wilson is made. Those three daughters will work on him every day. The others may despair, but the three daughters, all unmarried, all human and all with some rights in the matter, will only give up when there is no longer hope.

"That will be a test," Mr. Antwine said.

ABOUT BIG RABBIT.

Big Rabbit, the Ute, has taken a shot at a couple of Mexican herders and disappeared in the chasms of Southeastern Utah, with the Indian police after him.

To Big Rabbit the offense was not very serious. Nevertheless, the prospect of prison is serious enough, and the great canyons of the Transcolorado, once somewhat of a hardship to travelers, are for the present purposes of Big Rabbit none too numerous and none too deep.

Unlike his compatriot, Deacon Buffalo Meat of the Cheyennes, Big Rabbit has not been altogether assimilated. The Indian police are trying to assimilate him as hard as they can, but Big Rabbit was off to a comfortable lead, and is leaving very dim tracks.

It is very sad. All that country was one time the hunting ground of the Utes. The chances, too, are that it will be sadder still. We shall probably learn that Big Rabbit is a graduate of Carlisle.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS.

VAN BIBBER, a young man of wealth who attends the Hotel Salisbury's servants' ball and is fascinated by the remarkable dancing of DERELLA, a Hotel Salisbury seventh floor chambermaid who, dancing with one of the men servants is wholly unaware of the impression she has created.

RAVERS, GRAHAME WEST et als. friends of Van Bibber.

PART II.

WHEN he reached it he found his professional friends hanging over the railing, watching every movement which the girl made with an intense and unaffected interest.

"Have you noticed that girl with red hair?" he asked, as he pulled up a chair beside them.

But they only nodded and kept their eyes fastened on the opening in the crowd through which she had disappeared.

"There she is," Grahame West cried excitedly, as the girl swept out from the mass of dancers into the clear space. "Now you can see what I mean, Celestine," he said. "Where he turns her like that. We could do it in the shadow dance in the second act. It's very pretty. She lets go his right hand and then he swings her and balances backward until she takes up the step again, when she faces him. It is very simple and very effective. Isn't it, George?"

Lester nodded and said, "Yes, very. She's a born dancer. You can teach people steps, but you can't teach them to be graceful."

"She reminds me of Sylvia Grey," said Miss Chamberlain. "There's nothing violent about it, or faked, is there? It's just the poetry of motion, without any tricks."

Lester, who was a trick dancer himself, and Grahame West, who was one of the best eccentric dancers in England, assented to this cheerfully.

Van Bibber listened to the comments of the authorities and smiled grimly. The contrast which their lives presented to that of the young girl whom they praised so highly, struck him as being most interesting. Here were two men who had made comic dances a profound and serious study, and the two women who had lifted dancing to the plane of a fine art, all envying and complimenting a girl who was doing for her own pleasure that which was to them hard work and a livelihood. But while they were going back the next day to be applauded and petted and praised by a friendly public, she was to fly like Cinderella, to take up her sweeping and dusting and the making of beds, and the answering of pre-emptory summonses from electric buttons.

"A good teacher could make her worth $100 a week in six lessons," said Lester, dispassionately. "I'd be willing to make her an offer myself, if I hadn't too many dancers in the piece already."

"A hundred dollars— that's 20 pounds," said Mrs. Grahame West. "You do pay such prices over here! But I quite agree that she is very graceful; and she is so unconscious, too, isn't she?"

The interest in Cinderella ceased when the waltzing stopped, and the attention of those in the gallery was riveted with equal intensity upon Miss Chamberlain and Travers who had faced each other in a quadrille, Miss Chamberlain having accepted the assistant barkeeper for a partner, while Travers contented himself with a tall, elderly female, who in business hours had entire charge of the linen department. The barkeeper was a melancholy man with a dyed mustache, and when he asked the English dancer from what hotel she came, and she, thinking he meant at what hotel was she stopping, told him, he said that it was a slow place, and that if she would let him know when she had her night off, he would be pleased to meet her at the Twenty-third station of the Sixth avenue road on the uptown side, and would take her to the theater, for which, he explained, he was able to obtain tickets for nothing, as so many men gave him their return checks for drinks.

Miss Chamberlain told him in return, that she just doted on the theater, and promised to meet him the very next evening. She sent him anonymously instead two seats in the front row for her performance. She had much delight the next night in watching his countenance when, after arriving somewhat late and cross, he recognized the radiant beauty on the stage as the young person with whom he had condescended to dance.

When the quadrille was over she introduced him to Travers, and Travers told him he mixed drinks at the Knickerbocker Club, and that his greatest work was a Van Bibber cocktail. And when the barkeeper asked for the recipe and promised to "push it along," Travers told him he never made it twice the same, as it depended entirely on his mood.

Mrs. Grahame West and Lester were scandalized at the conduct of these two young people and ordered the party home, and as the dance was growing somewhat noisy and the gentlemen were smoking as they danced, the invited guests made their bows to Mr. Paul and went out into the cold, silent streets, followed by the thanks and compliments of seven bare-headed and swaying committeemen.

The next week Lester went on the road with his comic opera company; the Grahame Wests sailed to England, Letty Chamberlain and the other "Gee Gees," as Travers called the Gayety Girls, departed for Chicago, and Travers and Van Bibber were left alone.

The annual ball was a month in the st, when Van Bibber found Travers at breakfast at their club, and dropped into a chair beside him with a sigh of weariness and indecision.

"What's the trouble? Have some breakfast?" said Travers, cheerfully.

"Thank you, no," said Van Bibber, gazing at his friend doubtfully; "I want to ask you what you think of this. Do you remember that girl at that servants' ball?"

"Which girl? Tall girl with red hair—did fancy dance? Yes—why?"

"Well, I've been thinking about her lately," said Van Bibber, "and what they said of her dancing. It seems to me that if it's as good as they thought it was, the girl ought to be told of it and encouraged. They evidently meant what they said. It wasn't as though they were talking about her to her relatives and had to say something pleasant. Lester thought she could make a hundred dollars a week if she had had six lessons. Well, six lessons wouldn't cost much, not more than $10 at the most, and a hundred a week for an original outlay of ten is a good investment."

Travers nodded his head in assent, and whacked an egg viciously with his spoon. "What's your scheme?" he said. "Is your idea to help the lady for her own sake—sort of a philanthropic snap—or as a speculation? We might make it pay as a speculation. You see nobody knows about here except you and me. We might form her into a sort of stock company and teach her to dance, and secure her engagements and then take our commission out of her salary. Is that what you were thinking of doing?"

"No, that was not my idea," said Van Bibber, smiling. "I hadn't any plan. I just thought I'd go down to that hotel and tell her that in the opinion of the four people best qualified to know what good dancing is, she is a good dancer, and then leave the rest to her. She must have some friends or relations who would help her to take a start. If it's true that she can make a hit as a dancer, it seems a pity that she shouldn't know it, doesn't it? If she succeeded, she'd make a pot of money, and if she failed she'd be just where she is now."

Travers considered the subject deeply, with knit brows.

"That's so," he said. "I tell you what let's do. Let's go see some of the managers of some of those continuous performance places and tell them we have a dark horse that the Grahame Wests and Letty Chamberlain herself and George Lester think is the coming dancer of the age, and ask them to give her a chance. And we'll make some sort of a contract with them. We ought to fix it so that she is to get bigger money the longer they keep her in the bill, have her salary on a rising scale. Come on," he exclaimed, warming to the idea. "Let's go now. What have you got to do?"

"I've got nothing better to do than just that," Van Bibber declared, briskly.

The managers whom they interviewed were interested, but non-committal. They agreed that the girl must be a remarkable dancer indeed to warrant such praise from such authorities, but they wanted to see her and judge for themselves, and they asked to be given her address, which the impresarios refused to disclose. But they secured from the managers the names of several men who taught fancy dancing, and who prepared aspirants for the vaudeville stage, and having obtained from them their prices and their opinion as to how long a time would be required to give the finishing touches to a dancer already accomplished in the art, they directed their steps to the Hotel Salisbury.

" 'From the Seventh Story to the Stage,' " said Travers. "She will make very good newspaper paragraphs, won't she? "The New American Dancer, endorsed by Celestine Terrell, Letty Chamberlain and Courtlandt Van Bibber.' And we could get her outside engagements to dance at studios and evening parties after her regular performance, couldn't we?" he continued. "She ought to ask from $50 to $100 a night. With her regular salary that would average about $350 a week. She is probably making $3 a week now, and eats in the servants' hall."

"And then we will send her abroad," interrupted Van Bibber, taking up the tale, "and she will do the music halls in London. If she plays three halls a night, say one on the Surrey Side, and Islington, and a smart West End hall like the Empire or the Alhambra, at 15 guineas a turn, that would bring her in $525 a week. And then she would go to the Folies Bergere in Paris, and finally to Petersburg and Milan, and then come back to dance in the Grand Opera season, under Gus Harris, with a great international reputation, and hung with flowers and medals and diamond sunbursts and things."

"Rather," said Travers," shaking his head enthusiastically. "And after that we must invent a new dance for her, with colored lights and mechanical snaps and things, and have it patented; and finally she will get her picture on soda cracker boxes and cigarette advertisements, and have a racehorse named after her, and give testimonials for nerve tonics and soap. Does fame reach farther than that?"

"I think not," said Van Bibber, "unless they give her name to a new make of bicycle. We must give her a new name, anyway, and rechristen her, whatever her name may be. We'll call her Cinderella—La Cinderella. That sounds fine, doesn't it, even if it is rather long for the very largest type."

"It isn't much longer than Carmencita," suggested the other. "And people who have the proud knowledge of knowing her like you and me will call her 'Cinders' for short. And when we read of her dancing before the Czar of All the Russias, and leading the ballet at the Grand Opera House in Paris, we'll say, 'that is our handiwork," and we will find that we have not lived in vain."

"Seventh floor, please," said Van Bibber to the elevator boy.

THE HUSH-A-BYE BOOK

Done for the Post-Dispatch
By ELEANOR SCHORER

IN every kiddies' book are pictures of houses and castles and huts. Of course, someone must have built them. We all know that. Last evening the children journeyed to the Land of Heavy-Lids quite early. Out of the Hush-a-bye Book came a little fellow whose strong arms pushed up the Heavy cover as if it were a feather.

He introduced himself to the kiddies as the Builder of the Hush-a-bye Book Houses. This delighted the children and they begged him to build a castle for them. When he dumped all his building blocks out of the book the children's minds were filled with doubt. They could not understand how he could build anything with blocks that were the same as most all children have in their playroom. They were all shapes and sizes and some even had A B C's on them.

The Builder did not give any attention to the children who were rude enough to laugh. He just went straight ahead building a most beautiful castle. The kiddies looked on with eyes full of wonder and amazement. Such a wonderful, beautiful sight was before them!

"You did not think that I could do this with those blocks, did you?" said the Builder.

The children hung their heads in shame for doubting. The Builder continued:

"This shows you what you can do if only you try. Now for a little secret: This evening just as Bobby fell into the Land of Heavy-Lids I gathered all his building blocks which he had thrown in a corner, I stole away with them and brought them here to the Hush-a-bye Book. I wanted all of the children to learn by this little lesson to Bobbie to appreciate the playthings they have and always to remember that beautiful thoughts build beautiful castles."

CHATS WITH GREAT MEN OF THE CIVIL WAR

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By MRS. GEN. PICKETT

Widow of the famous Confederate leader.

5.—ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

COMING up to greet us at our wedding reception was a man of whom Abraham Lincoln had written 15 years before:

"I take up my pen to tell you that Mr. Stephens of Georgia, a little, slim, pale-faced, consumptive man, has just concluded the very best speech of an hour's length I ever heard. My old, withered dry eyes are full of tears yet."

The time had come which had been foretold by Mr. Stephens in 1847:

> "If Mexico, 'the forbidden fruit,' is to be seized at every hazard, I very much fear that those who control public affairs in their eager purusit after the unenviable distinction of despoiling a neighborhood republic, will have the still less enviable glory of looking black upon the shattered and broken fragments of their own confederacy. And instead of 'reveling in the halls of Montezuma,' of gloating over the ruins of the ancient cities of the Aztecs, they may be compelled to turn and behold in their rear another and wider prospect of desolation, carnage and blood."

He was now the vice-president of the Confederacy. After congratulations he turned to the General with the query:

"Well, have you heard from Old Abe since the war began?"

"Yes, I have heard twice."

"What did he say?"

"His latest message was sent through Mr. Browning. He said I was to go back to my Bible and read the 'Prodigal Son' and he would do his part and have the fatted calf ready when I was ready to come back."

Years afterward, when my worldly goods had all vanished by the failure and defalcation of those in whose charge they had been placed, and I was in a department office in Washington, Mr. Stephens was in Congress. When he learned of my position he said:

"Mad-d-dam"—he always pronounced the word with an exaggerated number of ds—"I am very sorry to hear this; very sorry. You would better go back to Virginia and raise bees and make honey. I don't believe Gen. Pickett would approve of your coming to Washington to work."

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS

"Nor would he approve of my being stuck up with honey and stung by bees, either, Mr. Stephens," I replied.

"It is safer by far and less painful to be stung by bees than hornets, and if you are not careful you may be stung by hornets here."

I told him that I should treat the hornets so that they would not sting me, and did not expect to be in office after my son had finished his course in the military institute.

"What will you do then?" he asked.

"My son will take care of me while I write a book about my husband's division."

"Write a book! Oh, my God!" he cried in dismay. "Go and read Job, Mad-d-dam!"

Some Southern friends coming up, the conversation turned upon Mr. Davis and his Cabinet.

"It seems a pity," said one, "that Mr. Davis was not allowed to follow the bent of his inclination and command the army and let Mr. Toombs be President."

"Toombs President? Well, we should have had a devil of a time. But it wouldn't have lasted more than about three days. He would have had no mercy, taken no prisoners, given no quarter. Toombs, you know, was never reconstructed, never asked for pardon and was never forgiven."

"I don't know why, but you always make me think of Mr. Toombs," I said.

"Toombs? Toombs—why, he and I were as unlike as if one had come from Hades and the other from Greenland's icy mountains, instead of both coming from the good old State of Georgia, of which we are very proud. Our views on every other question on earth, from secession up, were diametrically opposed, even as to his opinion of my humble self. For he saw in me great presidential timber, and on Feb. 4, 1861, in Montgomery, Ala., did me the honor of suggesting me as President of our Confederate States."

"I wonder what would have been the result, Mr. Stephens," I said, "if you had taken first place and Mr. Davis second?"

The Change.

"WHAT has become of Miss Smoke? She was going in for theosophy when I saw her last."

How to Be HEALTHY

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By J. A. HUSIK, M. D.

Avoid Wet Feet.

IT is well to understand that wet feet, like drafts of air or low, cold temperatures, are not of themselves capable of producing disease. One can stick both his feet into a pail full of ice water and if he be in a state of good health he will do so with impunity. No harm whatever to his health will result from that procedure.

The danger of permitting one's feet to become wet, or damp and cold lies in a different direction. It is the general state of one's physical welfare, at the time when he finds himself subjected to such unfavorable environments, that must be considered.

Let us grant, for instance, that a person rises in the morning feeling not quite as well as usual. He may be indisposed, but slightly, from one of many causes. Say he had a restless night from excessive work or worry, or from overindulgence in food, drink and the like, or from keeping late hours. It is under such circumstances that wet fet or exposure to drafts and cold become a potent factor in producing disease.

For, under such circumstances the body is already suffering from a lowered state of vitality and a decreased power of resistance to the invasion of the hosts of disease germs that are ever in search for a fine soil in which to breed and perpetuate themselves.

It is strictly in this sense, and in this sense only, that wet feet may and frequently do bring on the many colds, attacks of bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis and other diseases common to the wet and cold season of the year. And it is for this reason that one should avoid walking about, a whole day perhaps, with his feet damp and cold while attending to his daily business.

To avoid all these diseases, to keep well and strong and prolong life, avoid all unnecessary exposure. During the cold and wet season keep your feet dry and warm. This is of especial importance to those workers who are forced by the nature of their occupations to be most of the time out of doors. The little extra expense necessary to procure safety in this matter will, in the end, save money, comfort and health.

THE POCKET ENCYCLOPEDIA

WHY DO some tropical plants thrive when not rooted in the ground? The dampness of the tropical jungles' atmosphere gives them all the nourishment they need.

What causes frost on window panes? The warm room's vapor is frozen by the cold of the glass.

What rule concerning condensation is not followed when water condenses? Most bodies gain weight by condensing. But ice is lighter than water.

Why does frost make the earth crack? The water that has been absorbed by the ground in warm weather expands when frozen and thrusts apart the earth's particles.

On what fundamental framework is our Government built? On the Federal Constitution.

Where did the word Gotham originate? It is said to have been first used by Washington Irving as a name for an English parish whose people were stupid.

Very Good Tip.

"EVERYTHING all right, sir?" asked the waiter, according to the Boston Sunday Post.

The diner nodded, but still the waiter hovered near.

"Steak cooked to suit you, sir?" he asked again, presently.

Again the diner nodded.

"Potatoes the way you like 'em, sir?"

"Yes."

Another period of silence.

"I hope the service is satisfactory, sir?"

"Are you asking for a tip?" demanded the diner.

"Well, sir, of course we get the tips sometimes, and I've got to go to the kitchen for another party, so"—

"So you'd like the tip now to be sure of it? Well, I'll give you one."

"Yes, sir."

"Here is the tip: I have a powerful voice that I am capable of using. If anything is wrong I'll let out a roar. If you do not hear from me you can know that I am dining in peace and comfort and not in the least regretting your absence, for it's no fun to have to pass verbal judgment on every mouthful I eat." "But the tip?"

"That's the tip, and a mighty good one it is, too."

SIX CARDINALS IN LINE, ONLY THREE ARE HOLDING OUT

Huggins Signing His Baseball Men Faster Than He Had Hoped.

MOWREY NOW IN FOLD

Koney, Magee and Wingo Are the Balky Members of "the Rabbit's" String.

By W. J. O'Connor.

By signing Mike Mowrey, who last season proved the only balky member of Bresnahan's band, Miller Huggins has cleared one obstacle that threatened to impede his path to managerial success.

The readiness with which the Baltimore Boy boarded the band-wagon, was a deal of significance to the Cardinal rooters. It may mean that Mowrey will put his heart in his work next season and show the form at the far corner that characterized his play in 1911. Mowrey was a star two years ago. Last season he was only mediocre.

However Mowrey and Huggins are pals and it may be expected that "Mussy Mike" will give Huggins' team his best at all stages. Mowrey isn't an easy man to handle. He's tempermental and as Roger Bresnahan also has a chunk of temperment in his system, this pair never got along well. Mowrey was dissatisfied the greater part of last season and played in only 108 games. Should he buckle down next year and perform regularly, the third-sacking problem surely will take care of itself.

Six Cards in Line.

Manager Huggins, without fanfare of trumpets, is accomplishing a heap of things these days. He has signed Sallee, Mowrey and McLean and come to terms with Hauser, Harmon and Geyer. The only troublesome members of his team besides Koney, at present are Lee Magee and Ivey Wingo, the two 18-karat stars developed last season.

Both are in line for substantial boosts and it is needless to say Hug will "come across." However Messrs. Magee and Wingo may make unreasonable demands, in which case Hug will not have an easy case to plead. But at that Hug probably is worrying less about Magee and Wingo than he is about Koney. The Big Train's demand for $7500, has nettled Bresnahan's successor, while Koney is determined to stand pat on this price.

Evers Up Against It.

Up in Chicago, Manager Evers of the Cubs is having a harder task than Huggins in lining up players. Jimmy Archer, the de luxe catcher of the Cub crew, demands $10,000 for next season. Murphy refuses to meet this demand, and indications are that the Bruins will start out without their star backstop.

The acquisition of Bresnahan was calculated to scare Archer into signing, but it failed. Jimmy refused to be coerced and has returned two contracts to Murphy. Pitchers Cheney and Lavender, First Sacker Saier and Outfielders Sheckard and Schulte also have balked at Murphy's terms. So the outlook is indigo.

The consensus of opinion among baseball men, though, is that Archer will compromise his case with Murphy. The Cubs need Archer, as Jimmy is sure to be a more reliable workman than Bresnahan, who may not be in shape to don the mask and pad every day. Then, it's a question whether Evers will use Roger behind the bat. Few would be surprised if the Duke went to center field and topped the batting list. At all hazards, though, Archer's services are in demand as Bresnahan may find it hard to work in more than 50 games.

No more boxing bouts will be allowed in Milwaukee, according to a statement by District Attorney Yockey of that city, after warrants had been issued for the arrest of Jack Redmond and Joe Welling on the charge of participating in a prize fight there Jan. 18. Yockey's action came after a conference with several ministers, who claimed that the bout was not a boixng exhibition but a "prize fight."

WRAY'S COLUMN

A REAL PROBLEM.

SHOULD James Thorpe, the wonderful Indian athlete, whose allround performances at Stockholm for the American Olympic team amazed Europe, be proven guilty of accepting pay for playing "summer baseball" with the Rockymount (Carolina League) team, a unique condition will arise.

Under the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, Thorpe's points, made in competition since he professionalized himself, are nullified and all records made by him are canceled automatically.

Thus, if the statement of Manager Clancy of the Rockymount club, that Thorpe was on the team's payroll as a player, is verified, all the points made by Thorpe at the Olympics must be taken from him and next high contenders be installed as champions in the respective events won by the Fox and Sac redskin.

The deduction of these points could in no way affect the victory of the United States, as the Americans won by a wide margin.

• • •

ARTHUR DUFFEY A PRECEDENT.

SHOULD the A. A. U. decide to bar Thorpe and take away his honors, it would not be without precedent. The famous sprint champion, Arthur Duffey of Georgetown U., now a writer of athletics for a Boston paper, was stripped of his laurels because professionalism was proven against him to the satisfaction of the A. A. U.

They had the goods on Duffey; and his professionalism was in the same field of athletics as that in which he was performing as an "amateur."

• • •

AN EXCUSE FOR THORPE.

BUT Thorpe's case is entirely different; and then enforcement to the limit of the A. A. U. rule will revive the bitter controversy as to the effect of summer baseball on college students.

Thorpe may have been guilty of playing baseball for money; but just why that should make him a professional runner, jumper, weight thrower or football star is difficult to see. Baseball is not in any way connected with these sports and his supremacy on track and field is not aided or helped in any way by his success as a diamond star.

On the other hand, Thorpe may have been enabled by playing baseball to tide over a financial discrepancy that might have embarrassed him seriously while pursuing his collegiate course.

• • •

THE CASE OF HAUGHTON.

PROFESSIONALISM in one sport does not bar a man from amateur competition in another, always. Percy D. Haughton, Harvard's paid professional football coach, Saturday won the amateur racquet championship of America, at Boston. John M. Ward, who for years played professional baseball, is a well-known amateur golfer. Other instances are numerous.

• • •

THE A. A. U. SHOULD WORRY.

IF Thorpe is "set down" it is certain that the A. A. U. will have still another row with the universities on its hands. The colleges are in no mood to be dictated to by the Athletic Union. They do not need the Sullivan organization and may resent interference in their own field.

Brown University and other institutions have already, at times, come out flat-footed for "summer baseball," believing that it is a fruitful source of income whereby a young man can earn his tuition and education.

The A. A. U. cannot and will not view it in this light. Hence watch the head-on collision if Messrs. Sullivan and company rush into action too violently.

• • •

CHANCE FOR ST. LOUIS.

IF the Missouri Valley Conference will only be reasonable, two of its clubs at least can finish each season with a well-filled exchequer.

Missouri and Illinois U. have concluded a two-year football arrangement, agreeing on games to be played alternately at Columbia and Champaign. The present Missouri Valley rule insists that contests be held on college campuses. This rule is being attacked, however, and may be rescinded in another season. If it does, the place to play the Illinois-Missouri game is in St. Louis, on neutral grounds, where 20,000 persons will turn out to see the school team struggle of the two greatest states bordering on the Mississippi.

• • •

NO ANNUAL GAME HERE.

ST. LOUIS has no annual game to look forward to. Washington University every third season stages a game with Missouri, but aside from that contest there is nothing now of sentimental interest to St. Louis.

The "gate" from one Illinois-Missouri game would pay the expenses of all the athletics at both institutions for a single season—or at least would approximate it.

THORPE TO COMPETE WHILE A. A. U. LOOKS INTO HIS STANDING

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.

JAMES THORPE, the Carlisle Indian athlete and Olympic hero, whose standing as an amateur has been seriously impeached by the statement of Manager Clancy of the Rockymount (Carolina League) baseball team that Thorpe was on the club's pay roll, will be permitted to compete in tonight's indoor meet of the Pastime Athletic Club. Thorpe's standing will be investigated, but if the charges against him are proven his performances tonight will be thrown out.

Luther McCarty Will Arrive Here Tuesday for Coliseum Contest

LUTHER McCARTY, the white heavyweight champion of the world, will be seen in a work-out here in private before his appearance at the Coliseum Thursday night, when he is scheduled to give an exhibition of boxing against Young Al Kaufman, and do a few cowboy stunts he learned while punching cattle.

McCarty will arrive in the city Tuesday night and will work out at a local gymnasium Wednesday. McCarty's show trip has not been all that Manager McCarney expected and it is possible that McCarty may be signed to fight for his title while in St. Louis. McCarty had previously announced that he would not go on again until his birthday, March 17, but the big fellow may meet Jess Willard, Feb. 22.

SOCCER LEAGUE THRIVES UNDER "CLEAN BREAKS"

Referee Billy Bascom Controls St. Leoless Football Admirably.

Mailed-fist methods by which Billy Bascom, successor to Paul McSweeney as referee of the St. Louis Soccer League, asserts his authority, proved the biggest feature of Sunday's double-barreled matinee at Athletic Park. Bascom is no lady's man. He's what the soccer players call a "rough guy" and he bossed Sunday's show like a Klem or an O'Loughlin runs a ball game.

He threatened often to set the unruly athletes down, but managed to get through the afternoon without suspending anybody. Under his "clean-break" rules, the Innisfails were defeated by the Columbus Club, 2—1, without the introduction of any fistic trimmings, such as marred last Sunday's entertainment and eventuated in the withdrawal of the nine-time champion St. Leos. The Compton Hills, baby members of the league, yielded like passive lambs to the Business Men's A. C., 3—0.

League Starts All Over.

A new schedule was started Sunday, all the former games being erased from the league records. As a result the Business Men's A. C. and Columbus Club teams now are tied for first place.

The Scotchmen didn't play up to their usual standard, but at that they all but gained a tie. Just as Referee Bascom blew the whistle announcing the cessation of hostilities, McCaffery, one of the Innisfails' forwards, booted the ball between the uprights. Bascom ruled this score out, giving the Knights the conquests. There was a howl but Bascom was obdurate. Danny Bryne scored the first goal for the winners at the fag end of the first half. Brady scored the second and winning tally on a penalty kick in the final period.

Compton Player Scores for Foes.

Peters and Zarchell scored for the Business Men's A. C. team in the first half while Dallas of the Compton Hills, kicked a goal through his own posts in the second period, making the total three.

The Compton Hills made a favorable impression considering the fact that it was the first appearance of Joe Hastey's club. Walter Dallas, Duke McMahon and Red Roche, who will be with the Browns next season, promise to prove stars.

P. Maupome Must Win 10 Out 12 Matches to Keep St. Louis in Race

Pedro Maupome, the Mex., will inaugurate a 12-game, three-cushion series in the eastern wing of the National Amateur Three-Cushion League Monday evening, opening in Boston. To put his team at the top of the pennant hunt, the local star must win 10 of his 12 matches. St. Louis is now fourth, with a 7—5 mark, while Brooklyn leads, with 10—5.

Two years ago Maupome won 11 out of 15 matches on his first trip abroad and thereby clinched the flag for Peterson's entry. That the Mexican can repeat is the opinion of experts who have watched his play at home. A. A. Selkirk accompanied the local star.

Drink to me only with thine eyes
And I will pledge with mine;
For thou hadst best eschew the cup
And look not on the wine,

There lurketh in Jove's nectar sup,
A menace to the nine.

My old friend Garry didst bequeathe
Thy services to me.
I sent thee late a contract fair,
And hoped we might agree.
But thou thereon didst only breathe
And sent'st it back to me
Sans signature and smells, I swear,
Not of itself, but thee.

KEENER STILL ON TOP IN SCRIBES' TOURNAMENT

Sid Keener of the Times still is leading the procession in the scribes' cue tournament now in progress at Peterson's. Keener has won eight games without tasting defeat. O'Connor, 10—1, is second, tied with Frank Parker of the Globe, who has a 5—1 mark.

Louis Arms of the Star is in the thickest of the fighting, with nine triumphs and two reverses. An effort will be made to wind up the tournament this week.

PIN-TOPPLERS ELECT M. D. CLARY PRESIDENT

Gus Schneider was named first vice-president, while the other officers selected are: W. H. Musick, second vice-president; H. Welden, third vice-president; Ike Rawlson, fourth vice-president; J. C. Ameling, fifth vice-president; Brace Jerrett, secretary, and Martin Kern, treasurer.

Pfleuger, Gus Schneider, Jack Beresford, E. M. Roberts, Wooster Lambert, S. B. Couchman and Harry Bickham.

It was decided to hold the next city tournament on a 60 per cent handicap basis, and also to have the handicaps drawn by a committee to be named later by President Clary. The ban was put on the dodo ball and the local delegates instructed to vote against it at the A. B. C. convention.

Moose Club's Bill.

M'Carty Not to Draw Color Line Against the Champion

Boxing Experts Everywhere Believe the White Title Holder Is Too Green to Face a Seasoned Scrapper Like Johnson in a Long Battle.

By Robert Edgren.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LUTHER McCARTY is weakening in his color-line declaration. After all, he may fight Jack Johnson, if there is a public demand for such a contest. Luther is evidently becoming ambitious, but if he follows the advice of well-meaning friends, he will let the big negro alone, for a time at least.

At best, McCarty is a comparative novice. It would be bad management to stack him against Johnson without a little more experience. While it is just possible that he could beat Jeffries conqueror, right now, it would be a bad betting proposition. McCarty has done remarkably well in less than a year, but he hasn't fought any Johnsons or Sam Langfords or Joe Jeanettes. He would be a 3 or 4 to 1 shot against any one of the black trio in any kind of a bout just now. In another year, if McCarty shows as much improvement as he has shown in the last 12 months, his chances of establishing a clear claim to the heavyweight title might be favorably considered.

There isn't anything terrible in the ranks of the white hopes at the present time, and there is no use dodging the fact that any white man with championship aspirations must wipe out the black heavyweights to be regarded supreme in his class.

Both Al Palzer and Joe Jeanette are claiming the match with Jack Johnson, June 24, the night before the Grand Prix. Al Lippe writes from Paris that all details have been arranged for a meeting of Palzer and Johnson and Dan McKetrick is now on his way to the gay French city to fix things up for Jeanette.

McKetrick exhibited letters and cables before sailing indicating that the match was on and has been on for weeks.

The only difficulty would seem to be Johnson's troubles with the authorities here. If he can get away Johnson will doubtless jump at the chance of meeting Palzer, but may not be so anxious to clash with Jeanette. The Hoboken negro has had almost as much ring experience as Johnson and experience counts in any kind of an argument. Youth and strength are very desirable possesions in any athlete, but there are other things necessary in the makeup of a successful fighter. That may be seen at any of our nightly boxing shows where the recruit with nothing but youth and strength is usually beaten up.

ART MAGIRL WILL MEET ROWAN AT SULLIVAN'S CLUB

Art Magirl, the popular and clever 148-pound fighter, who has been making his home in this city, will probably be matched today with Marty Rowan of Salt Lake City to box eight rounds in the main event of the Future City Athletic Club's show of Feb. 4. Matchmaker Tommy Sullivan said that details had practically been concluded.

Magirl is well known locally and is considered one of the most dangerous men of his weight in the game. Rowan recently went 15 rounds with Harry Brewer at Salt Lake City, and had the edge.

Sullivan has also signed Arlos Fanning, the young Oklahoma scrapper, to appear in one of the preliminaries, possibly against Francis Hennessey.

Paddy Kelley and Jimmy Foley are being considered for the third bout of the show.

Rheumatism Affects Lungs

Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Phthisis, Asthma and Anemia Often Directly the Result of Rheumatic Blood.

If you have a persistent, nagging bronchial cough beware of cough remedies. They are merely local in action, and if they do relieve it is the narcotics that do it. What you require is a blood purifier, a searching antidote that removes from the circulation the acid poisons that by their reflexes attack all weakened, susceptible spots and thus create local symptoms. The very best remedy known is Swift's sure specific. You will find it on sale in any drug store at $1.00 per bottle. It goes straight into the blood, becomes an internal blood bath, wonderfully increases the red corpuscles, cures all the local fever spots and irritations, increases appetite, you take on flesh and feel a wonderful sense of renewed strength. Hundreds of people worried beyond control at cough, pains in the chest, sore throat and constant expectoration of thick mucus have experienced the most wonderful change after using S. S. S. All doubt and apprehension is gone, those peculiar pains and aches vanish, there follows a period of most intense rejoicing to find that worst fears were based entirely upon a mistaken notion that cough and chest pains come from the lungs. These are rheumatic conditions, and you will quickly realize it after using S. S. S. for a few days. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at the drug store and then say good-by to all those pains that have worried you.

Write to Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for medical advice and wonderful facts concerning the greatest blood remedy ever known.

STOCK TRADING QUIET WITH A BEARISH TONE

Easy London Market Causes Some Early Selling in the Active Shares.

MONEY IS IN DEMAND

Call Funds Touch Three Per Cent in the Late Session.

Discount Rates Are Firm on the London Market.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—While the uncertainty of the outcome of the peace negotiations and the commencement of the settlement checked fresh operation on the Stock Exchange today, some realizing to avoid the payment of high carry-over rates caused stocks to sag, especially telephone, Argentine Shipping shares and consols. Marconi and mining issues were steady exceptions. American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Later Canadian Pacific fell a point on Berlin selling, but the rest of the list barely moved. The closing was dull. Money was dearer and discount rates were firm.

The Bank of England will probably buy the bulk of the $5,000,000 new gold offered in the open market.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"It might be said of today that all semblance of activity ceased on all the great Stock Exchanges of the world. At New York there could scarcely be said to have been any movement of prices. Until noon it was declared that the market was waiting for the decision on the Minnesota rate case, and after noon, when the Supreme Court had adjourned without any decision on those cases, it was remarked that nothing was left with which to promote activity.

"Abroad the various financial markets appeared to be gazing at the Constantinople imbroglio without the least idea what to think of it. Even in the case of securities of the belligerent states, there were both advances and declines. It was, in short, a day of suspended financial animation.

Market Waits on News.

"Such a halt ordinarily means that the familiar influences, lately governing the course of values, have largely ceased to operate, and that some new influence must force their way into recognition before any definite movement can reasonably be expected.

"The Stock Exchange usually reasons, at such times, that the halt means either that the market is either "sold to a standstill" or "bought to a standstill" the customary inference being that the next movement should be in the opposite direction. It might be puzzling to say, however, what is the "opposite direction." In Europe, prices have behind them a violent decline and a partial recovery. Here at New York, prices are 15 points or so below last autumn's highest, yet 1 to 4 points above the lowest of this month.

"Our market may consider it necessary to await the Pujo Committee's report, or it may even suppose that Gov. Sulzer's message on Stock Exchange regulation (apparently to be sent to the Legislature tonight) will influence new life into things. It is a fair guess, however, that the market itself is weary of the old husks of discussion.

"Today, at any rate, there was no news whatever that could interest the financial public. Even the Balkan dispatches bore evidence of being "copy" prepared with toilsome industry from the correspondent's inner consciousness. One would like to hear something of the state of the Balkan armies themselves.

"But the war correspondents all seem to have gone home, when they discovered that they could not be entertained at the front, and that they could not get more than one clean towel a day if they stayed in Sofia or Belgrade.

Good Demand for Money.

"There was a broader demand for call money and some loans were made as high as 3 per cent. With the slight rise in money rates there was an easier tone to the foreign exchange market, sight drafts on London sold down to 4.87½, or ¼ cent below Saturday.

"There was another half-million gold engagement for Argentina, and the indications pointed to further withdrawals for that market within a few days.

"No more gold was taken for Paris, but the banks here appeared inclined to put most of their loanable funds out on call for the time being at least.

"The banks continued to lose money to the subtreasury on account of the gold outflow, but the indications were that they would get in considerable cash, however, on direct receipts from interior banks.

"It is expected that some large payments will be required on various bond underwritings and for other purposes around Feb. 1."

COTTON MARKET SHOWS SOME BUYING ORDERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of 5 points on January, but generally firm and 4 to 6 points higher on covering and renewed support from trade brokers.

The opening here was decidedly better than due on the cables, which had reflected continued uneasiness over the situation in the Balkans, and prices eased off right after the call, but later firmed up again on continued bull support, with the active months about 3 to points net higher during the middle of the morning.

Rather more optimistic reports as to the tariff revision outlook and encouraging reviews of the dry goods situation from some of the large Western distributors probably helped the advance here.

A renewal of bull support and covering ent the active old crop positions about 0 to 14 points higher during the early afternoon, but there was nothing fresh in the way of news and the market was rather quiet later with prices reacting or 6 points. The closing was mixed.

Cotton spot closed steady. Middling uplands, 13.05 c; middling gulf, 13.30 c. Sales, 2,800 bales.

RAILWAYS PFD. IS LOWER IN LOCAL MARKET

Price Loses 1 1-2 Points on Sales at $38.5o—Other Issues Are Steady.

United Railways preferred stock was weak and lower at the second session of the local Stock Exchange Monday, selling at $39 to $38.50, compared to trades at the close on Saturday at $40. The demand for the issue was fairly good as the bell tapped, with closing bids at $38.62½ and sellers at $38.75. Other issues quoted and sold were about steady.

Trading was very quiet and professional at the early session of the local Stock Exchange Monday, only two issues being brought into the active list. International Shoe preferred sold in a small way at $108 and Brewery Association 6s were steady at $100.12½.

United Railways preferred was slightly easier on offers at $39.75 and bids at $38.75, against sales at the preceding session at $40. The common stock was not mentioned, but the 4s were steady on bids at $73.50 and sellers at $74.

The bank and trust list was quiet and prices showed no important change from the preceding session. The miscellaneous and bond lists were steady on the issues quoted.

Local Money Market.

With time money offered to best borrowers for three and four months' duration at 5 per cent and 4½ per cent the highest bids, it was easily understandable that business was somewhat restricted at St. Louis banks and trust companies today.

Plenty of demand funds appeared in the market today at 5 per cent, but even this class of borrowers is scarcer than they have been in some time past, and as a result of this condition there was but little doing in this branch of the discount business.

Heavy receipts sent wheat futures lower Monday. World's shipments of 11,840,000 bu, against 11,520,000 bu. last week and 7,376,000 bu last year and an increase of 3,536,000 bu in the amount on passage added to the bear sentiment. The trade ignored the warlike dispatches from Europe as Liverpool cables showed no anxiety over the outlook. Shorts covered contracts in the last hour and final prices were steady.

The lower American cables Saturday offset the smaller American shipments than expected and Liverpool prices opened dull and unchanged. Predictions are for smaller American shipments in the future, and the unfavorable political news caused some support, and following the opening the market advanced ⅛d. During the morning the market was dull but with some pressure on the increasing Plate offers and the increase in the amount on passage. The closing was quiet.

Liverpool corn opened unchanged, and later declined ¼d on weakness of old Plate offers and a quieter demand for spot.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛d up. Corn ¼d to ⅜d lower. Paris wheat 1¼c to 2c lower, Antwerp and Berlin unchanged and Budapest ⅞c lower.

Minneapolis rolled up 944 cars of wheat, against 526 last week and 696 last year. Duluth 61, against 83 and 20. Winnipeg 455, against 397 and 696. Minneapolis wheat receipts decreased 100,000 bu for 2 days.

Local wheat receipts were 291,600 bu or 171 cars local, 72 through; last year 94,800 bu or 24 cars local, 5 through. Corn receipts 210,000 bu or 134 cars local, 41 through; last year 354,000 bu or 263 cars local, 32 through. Oats receipts 137,700 bu or 54 cars local, 27 through; last year 74,800 bu or 27 cars local, 17 through.

Total primary wheat receipts were 2,105,000 bu, against 1,044,275 bu last year; shipments 695,000 bu, against 256,624 bu last year. Corn receipts 1,741,000 bu, against 2,002,156 bu last year; shipments 972,000 bu, against 569,974 bu last year.

World's wheat shipments detailed were:

Total	5,843,000	5,441,000	4,459,000

Black Sea wheat shipments this week were 2,664,000; last week, 1,264,000; last year, 1,512,000. July to date: 110,450,000; year ago, 106,821,000.

On passage statement—wheat today increase, 3,536,000; week ago inc., 2,504,000; year ago dec., 584,000. Corn inc., 475,000; inc., 136,000; inc., 102,000. Total—Wheat 32,832,000; last week, 29,296,000; last year, 27,952,000.

Canadian visible—Wheat this week inc., 289,000; oats dec., 65,000. Total—Wheat this week, 22,106,000; last year, 21,932,000. Oats, 8,536,000; last year, 4,833,000.

Rycroft, of Bartlett Froyle 'n Chicago, wired their local representative, A. C. Petri: I think wheat is a purchase on this break for a turn. Our prices for No. 1 Northern spring wheat are quite in line for export and a steady market for awhile will result in a good demand.

New York wired: "The seaboard reports corn export business still way below a working basis. In fact Eastern exporters are asking for bids in cancellation of corn bought in this market for shipment East."

Kansas City stocks of wheat total 4,677,000, a decrease of 61,000 for the week; corn 398,000, increase 108,000; oats 94,000, increase 15,000.

Corn futures were easier. The return to open winter over the country made traders cautious about following an advance, especially as prices are only a shade off the top of a 5c advance. Cash demands were rather quiet and cables ¼d lower on more favorable Argentine news.

Clearances: wheat 308,000; flour, 5000; corn, 152,000; oats none. Wheat and flour, 331,000.

The domestic wheat visible for the week decreased 1,805,000 bu; corn increased 1,638,000 bu; oats, 489,000 bu.

The total visible showed:

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Jan. 27.—Comparative receipts table:

	Today.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
Cattle	5,000	5,000	4,111
Hogs	12,500	10,000	7,565
Sheep	3,300	5,500	1,821
Horses and mules	2,700	1,300	1,800

NATIVE CATTLE—Today's supply totaled 3300 head, a fair run. Steers sold steady to strong, with an active movement. Heifers were firm and canners slow. Bull trade was on a weak basis. Calves sold 25c lower. There was a strong inquiry for stockers and feeders despite last week's drop in fat steers.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—Receipts in this department aggregated 1700 head. There was a generous offering of Texas bulls that sold 10c to 15c lower. Steers showed no change from last week. Canners and yearlings were steady with the Saturday trade.

HOGS—A good supply was received and there was a good many pigs and lights included that did not grade very high. The top was $7.60 and the bulk went at $7.40@7.55. Medium and heavy hogs with a little quality to them went at $7.50 and higher, while packers paid $7.35@7.45 for the best mixed and $7@7.25 for fair light-weight mixed. Rough heavy packers sold at $6.90@7.10. Best grade of lights brought $7.15@7.45, best quality pigs sold for $6.75@7, medium kinds went at $6.25@6.65 and the common and Southwest offerings $4.50@6. The close was steady for the good hogs, and they were well cleaned up, but there were a good many pigs and Southwest offerings left.

SHEEP—There was no material change to the market. Best fat lambs brought $8.85@8.75, medium grades went at $7.75@8.25, yearlings sold at $7.35@7.75, mutton sheep $5@5.25, stockers $3.50@4, old cull sheep $2.25@3 and bucks $3.50@3.75.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market opened fairly active, with prices generally about steady with the close of last week. There was a good run, and [illegible] few buyers were here. Indications pointed toward a good sale, and shippers seemed well pleased with the early prices.

The mule trade showed little change from last week's mid session. Fat cotton mules go at the right prices, and any good work mule which is offered sells well. Others are not much in demand, and prices are none too high.

Chicago Livestock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 19,000; market steady to shade lower; beeves, $6@9; Texas steers, $4.65@5.65; Western steers, $4.80@7.45; stockers and feeders, $5.50@7.20; cows and heifers, $2.70@7.20; calves, $7@10.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 52,000; market quiet, 5c lower; light, $7.30@7.57; mixed, $7.30@7.57½; heavy, $7.15@7.60; rough, $7.15@7.50; pigs, $5.75@7.35; bulk, $7.45@7.55.

You Can Cash This Bond For What It Cost You

The Title Guaranty 5% Mortgage Bonds now being offered by this Company may be cashed at the option of the holder on any interest date by giving thirty days' notice, at par and accrued interest without discount or expense.

These bonds are secured by first mortgages on improved city real estate, and, in addition, are the direct obligation of the Title Guaranty Trust Company, capital $2,500,000.

Thus these cashable bonds must always be worth par—one hundred cents on the dollar. And their value cannot be affected by tariff revision or other legislation, strikes, panics, politics or market manipulation.

They may be had in any maturity and for any amount from $50 up.

Call at our office and we will be glad to give you further information. If this is impossible, a postal will bring one of our circulars.

THE FACTOR OF SAFETY

¶ Investors who buy the best of the new Preferred Stock issues obtain much more generous protection than formerly.

¶ It is not rare to find those recent preferred stocks more than fully offset by actual working capital and quick cash assets.

¶ The buyer really gets much more than he pays for, and safeguards of the strictest kind.

¶ We believe it will pay you to ask about these amply protected investment securities. You will find that you can, thereby, increase your income and reduce your risks.

Lost and Found

THAT LOST ARTICLE MAY NOT BE FOUND TODAY

Or tomorrow or next week. In fact, a month or more may elapse before it turns up. A little persistency may be necessary. Often the article remains unfound; often fear of prosecution or hope of a more satisfactory reward may delay the restoration. Then, the belated awakening of the finder's conscience explains many delays. But persistency and Post-Dispatch wants will usually recover a lost article if an honest person finds it. The service of the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau is also enlisted in behalf of advertisers.

ALLIANCE OF PASTORS AGAINST HOME RULE BILLS

Evangelical Body Opposed to Depriving Governor of Apointive Power.

A resolution condemning any home rule bill which would take from the Governor the power of appointing police, election and excise officials of St. Louis was adopted unanimously Monday at a meeting of the St. Louis Evangelical Alliance in the assembly room of the Central Library Building.

The resolution provides that a committee be sent to Jefferson City to work against the passage of any such bill.

In effect, the resolution is an amendment to the report made by a special committee of the Alliance. In its original form the report declared the organization's opposition to "any bill providing for an open Sunday or brewery domination of any kind." This was considered too vague by some members of the Alliance.

The Rev. Paul H. Linn, pastor of Scruggs Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, made a short speech in which he said he had presented the question of home rule to his congregation Sunday, "after a long mental struggle." At the close of the services, he said, 328 members of the congregation signed a petition against the proposed plans of home rule. Among them, he said, were policemen and politicians who told him privately that home rule, as now being advocated for St. Louis, would be a very bad thing.

Dr. Linn said the alliance should back up the Church Federation, which wrote to the editor of a New York newspaper for an opinion as to the success of home rule in New York, and received a reply that home rule was beautiful in theory, but very imperfect in practice.

W. D. Johnstone, superintendent of city missions for Christian churches, said he heard two business men talking about home rule as he rode downtown in a street car. Both declared themselves in favor of home rule, with regulative powers vested in the police, he said, on the ground that the open Sundays of the days before the "lid" always brought big excursions to St. Louis, that the excursionists spent money freely and that the racetracks formerly kept lots of money in circulation here.

STORY-BOOK FOLK TO AID CHILDREN IN COLISEUM SHOW

Ali Baba, Bluebeard and the Pied Piper in Tableaux Vivants for Children's Hospital.

Ali Baba, Bluebeard, the Sleeping Beauty, and the Pied Piper, with all their attendants, are among the famous story folk who will appear in the tableaux vivants at the Coliseum, Tuesday evening, Feb. 4, for the benefit of the St. Louis Children's Hospital. Each will be presented with artistic stage settings and costumes, following the well-known illustrations of Dulac, Maxfield Parrish and Kate Greenaway.

After each tableau the story will be acted with hundreds of art students and children in the casts. The Prince will woo the Sleeping Beauty, the Pied Piper will steal the children from their homes to follow the music of his piping. Sister Anne will betray the crafty Bluebeard, and dancing girls will pose for Ali Baba.

Walter Crane's "Five Senses" will be posed by pretty girls as Sight, Hearing, Tasting, Feeling and Smelling.

Dawson Watson, who has charge of the pageant, has planned it on a scale surpassing anything ever attempted in the city. During the pageant, children trained by Jacob Mahler, will give new dances.

The Ali Baba tableaux will be presented by Mrs. Gustav von Schlegell and Misses Amy Isaacs and Rhoda Coxwell. Miss Hilda Watson will take one of the poses in the "Five Senses."

Poepping, with a big band will play the incidental music for each tableaux, and afterwards for the ball, which will be participated in by all spectators from the gallery to the boxes. The sale of seats for the pageant and carnival ball begins tomorrow morning at Scruggs Vandervoort-Barney Dry Goods Co. Seats in the entire upper balcony will be 25 cents; arena circle, $1; main floor, $1, $1.50 and $2. The boxes are $100, and a great many have been sold to prominent people.

The ball promises to be a brilliant social event, and it is hoped to raise several thousand dollars, which will go to increasing the endowment fund for the new St. Louis Children's Hospital, which is now being erected. Both lot and building have been given, but a big sum is needed for current expenses for the hospital, which is the only free one for children in the city.

Any child from the age of birth to 14 is given free treatment regardless of color or religion, and no institution in St. Louis has done as much for the poor, sick children of the city.

POLICEMAN KILLS SELF

Unable to sleep and practically incapacitated for work, Patrolman Thomas Maher, 49 years old, ended his life Sunday morning by swallowing carbolic acid at his home, 408 St. George street. In a note to his wife he said that his suffering was more than he could stand. He requested that the wake be held in an undertaking chapel.

Maher had been a member of the police force 12 years and was stationed in the Second District. He was stricken with paralysis last fall and was unable to work from September until December. He suffered another attack Thursday.

STORIES ST. LOUISANS TELL

WITH DIAPASON LUNGS.

WHEN a son was born to E. A. Kieselhorst, piano man, he wired his friend, Col. E. S. Conway of Chicago: "Third pedal arrived this morning. Mother and son doing nicely."

As a piano man, Col. Conway was up on third pedals, but there are third pedals and third pedals. He wanted to know what kind of a third pedal the little Kieselhorst was.

"Loud or soft?" he wired back.

"Loud," was Kieselhorst's answer.

B. Compressed air tank, which downward pressure of lever controls.

C. Rack on which young man's hat is placed upon his arrival.

D1. First position of hat.

D2. Second position of hat, caused by force of yawn. Any gentleman of ordinary intelligence will take this hint.

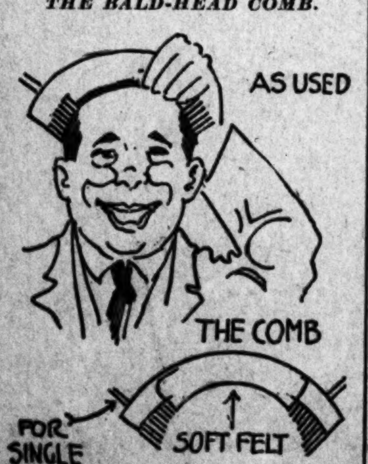
THE BALD-HEAD COMB.



FOR perfecting this "baldhead comb" I shall expect the blessing of every bald-knob sinner who has any pride or hair left. This comb has hard rubber back and ends, each end has five teeth, in center is a section of fine soft felt, on the top of either end are two teeth, they are used on single hairs should any remain divorced on top. This felt section produces the "smile" and is "felt" all over. Pray for

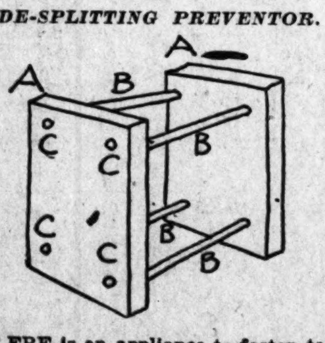
SIDE-SPLITTING PREVENTOR.



HERE is an appliance to fasten to the body to prevent one from splitting his sides laughing at the useless inventions you publish. It consists of two steel plates (a) fastened together with bolts (b) and made adjustable to any body by thumb-screws (c). Before reading of the inventions, adjust the plates and screw up tight. Should a slight split occur, it cannot be serious—any moreso than the inventions themselves.

THE JARR FAMILY

By ROY L. McCARDELL

Mrs. Gabb appears as an apostle of the suburbs.

MR. JARR had just settled himself with his book and his pipe for a quiet evening at home. Mrs. Jarr sat on the other side of the table beneath the drop light, placidly darning the children's stockings. They wear them out at the knees, mostly.

The little Jarrs were playing roll ball on the floor, prior to taps. No discord marred this Symphony Domestica, save ever and anon when the dear little children came to slaps or Mrs. Jarr rocked back on the cat's tail.

All was peace, contentment and quiet —or nearly so—when the doorbell rang. WHEN THE DOORBELL RANG!

"Is it a visitor or an intruder?" asked Mr. Jarr. "No, it's too late for a bill collector. Thank goodness! Bad as bill collectors are, they only dun during union hours! After nightfall and before breakfast one is reasonably safe."

It being Gertrude's (the light-running domestic's), evening out, Mrs. Jarr went to the door. A murmured buzz of greeting punctuated by a kiss told to Mr. Jarr's listening ear that the visitor was feminine. But whether friend or foe he could not tell.

The children and the cat, being more curious than he, had rushed to the door to see who the caller was. But Mr. Jarr's philosophy had taught him long ago that while it may or may not be true that Opportunity Knocks But Once, your friends are at it continually.

Anyway, this didn't sound like Opportunity's knock, and it wasn't likely that Mrs. Jarr would be familiar enough with Opportunity to kiss her when she did call.

Mr. Jarr's surmise was correct. It wasn't Opportunity, it was a more intimate acquaintance, Mrs. Gabb of Collinsville.

"Oh, I can't take off my things! I can't stay a minute. I was just out visiting my married daughter," began Mrs. Gabb, after greeting Mr. Jarr and taking the rocking chair Mrs. Jarr offered her.

When a lady who is a fluent conversationalist takes a seat in a rocking chair there is a sort of clashing of gears before the wagging of her tongue and the rocking action of the chair get synchronized.

But the talking lady and the rocking chair soon get down to bearings, so to speak, and it wasn't long before Mrs. Gabb's tongue and her body and the chair were all swaying in perfect unison.

Why did Mr. Jarr imagine he heard the jovial "plunk!" of ball against tenpin? Why did his mind's eye conjure up Gus and Slavinsky eagerly watching at the door for someone of congenial desirability to drop in and make the third hand at auction penuchle?

"Yes, but, mind you, the people of Collinsville are solid and substantial people!" Mrs. Gabb rocked and rattled on. "Why are there so many robberies in Collinsville? There was Lawyer Towne's place robbed twice, and a lot of people not daring in those days to run over to a neighbor's for fear thieves would back up to the house with a furniture truck and move them right out.

"It's because the people have something to steal. In St. Louis it's all putting on airs; and if a burglar breaks into a St. Louis apartment he gets into debt. But Collinsville—well, in Collinsville people have something beside what they put on their backs!"

"Hm!" said Mr. Jarr. "I think I'll step out for a little walk."

"Oh, don't let me disturb you. I can't stay a minute!" cried Mrs. Gabb. "I said to myself, 'I'll just drop in and see that dear Mrs. Jarr!' But you should live in Collinsville. Nobody in my set there puts on any airs. The loveliest people! No dressing up!

"Dressing up? Why, some of us just slip on a long coat over our kimonos or house wrappers and go out to the moving pictures. Including some people who own their own homes, too. Some owning them without a second mortgage.

"Why, when the lights go up between the film reels you'll see some of what I consider our most fashionable people. The men, maybe, in their slippers and sweaters, just put on over their shirt sleeves as they got up from the supper table; and the handsomest kimonos showing where the ladies open their cloaks, if it's warm at the movies.

"Why don't you move to Collinsville?"

Getting Your "Per Capita"

WASHINGTON, January 14.—A newspaper story discussing in a humorous vein the per capita circulation of money in the United States has flooded the Treasury Department with applications for the $34.72 which, if the nation's wealth were divided equally, would be the portion of every man, woman and child in the country.

The story facetiously told those who needed the money to draw upon the Government, and letters today swamped George E. Roberts, director of the mint. * * * has drawn up a circular letter in which he says he must disappoint the applicants with the information that the Treasury Department computes monthly the per capita circulation on a theoretical basis, and has no control over its distribution.—(Globe-Democrat.)

You can soon have the per capita mentioned—and more, by depositing with us regularly on a Savings Account, for once started saving becomes a habit—a most profitable one.
